The Month of Weddings

Monday opened the month of weddings, and our message today is directed to "Brides of the Month" and their closest friends. June Brides have been in existence since Adam and Eve, for it was in June, we believe, that the famous couple had their first quarrel over the June Apple.

And now comes another June Bride—many of them—all descendants of Mother Eve—"BUT 20TH CENTURY BRIDES WHO USE SENSIBLE FURNITURE." Besides many useful—some ornamental, that are NOT USEFUL—the June Bride receives many presents. Can there be a more useful—more sensible present to give than some piece of furniture to start the "Nest?" After it's all over—and the presents are all received, one of your greatest pleasures is still to come—that is—the selection of the rest of the furnishings for the new home you are making. We are truly "Builders of Happy Homes," and pride ourselves on the showing of Furniture—Rugs, Draperies, etc., we are making this season. We want to talk this "Home Furnishing proposition" over with you, and will furnish the services of an EXPERIENCED salesman, to show you around, and figure out for you just what the cost will be.

If you are not prepared to pay at once, we shall be glad to arrange terms of payment to suit your convenience as we GUARANTEE LOWER TERMS OF PAYMENT THAN ANY STORE IN THE CITY.

OUR SPECIAL PROPOSITION FOR JUNE

During this month we will Give Away "Absolutely Free" one of our $18.00 ELWELL KITCHEN CABINETS, with every purchase of $100.00 or more, EITHER CASH OR CREDIT. : : : :

We Have one of these Cabinets on display at our exhibit at the "Pure Food Show." MAKE IT A POINT TO LOOK FOR IT.

Will You Permit Me to Ask You a Few Questions?

Have you made use of your homestead right?
Have you ever thought of how easy it is to become the owner of 160 acres of choice agricultural land?
Do you know the value of 160 acres of such land?
Did you imagine that it is worth today no less than $2,400.00?
Do you know that it is worth much more than that in many cases?
Are you going to wait until the best of them are gone?
Did it occur to you that thousands of men have made their start in life that way?
Haven't some of your own acquaintances become wealthy in just that way?
Did anyone ever tell you that you can pay for a quarter section of land with the proceeds of only one crop if you bought it at from $12.50 to $15.00 per acre?
Do you want to be considered a clam and wait until it is everlastingly too late?
Did you ever hear of one acre of land making two?
Do you know that the population of the United States doubles every twenty years?
Did you ever consult history and find that the immigration to the United States is about a million a year?
Can you put two and two together? Can you make $2,000.00 clear money any easier?
Will you join us on our next excursion on June 16th to Montana where these lands are and see for yourself what a rush there is for land?
Are you interested? If so come to my office and let's talk it over.

Tennessee was in the box for the Senators yesterday afternoon and La Crosse won the game by the score of 4 to 2. The result was a sort of a surprise as Tennessee was claimed as invincible. Tennessee, barring the sixth inning, pitched a good game. He showed that he could deliver the goods in the seventh inning when with the bases full and no outs, he steadied down and struck out two men while the third went out on an easy grounder to first. Bond and Harnes were the only Colts who were able to face the mighty Senator and get let down without a strike out. He pitched wonderful ball at times but again he would go up in the air and allow hits, bases on balls and real runs.

Jones for La Crosse pitched a good game and was given perfect support until the seventh inning. Whitmore, who was first at bat, pounded out a three-bagger, but Armstrong, the next man, went out on an easy grounder. Then Cook appeared at bat and lifted an easy one into left field. Hastings made a pretty run for the ball and got it but forgot to hold on and Whitmore scored. Cook scored later in the inning and had it not been for the dropping of his fly by Hastings, Jones would have had an easy shutout.

Anyway La Crosse won, making it three straight from Cassibone and his players, and all the fans are satisfied. A feature of the game was the hitting of Harnes, La Crosse's new catcher. He got three hits at four times at bat. In his first appearance before Tennessee he did not locate the ball, and only pounded out a little grounder in the hands of the shortstop. In the next three times at bat he picked out soft spots in the field and drove the ball in that direction each time, and his hitting practically won the game. Hastings located the ball once and when he did he sent it far enough into the field to enable him to skirt to the third sack and score Bond, who was at first. Following the three-bagger of Hastings, Harnes came up with a single and scored Hastings.

The Senators and Colts left this morning for Madison, where they will play a series of three games on the Senators' grounds and the fans are confident that they will return Monday with at least two more games to La Crosse's credit. La Crosse now has a substantial lead and with the average luck, will remain in that condition for some time to come. La Crosse will return Monday and play three games with Rockford.

with Boston at the latter's the game being called at the seventh inning on account of rain. Lindaman was in the box for the Cubs and Pfeister for the Boston. Both pitchers were in rare form while Lindaman had a shade better of the argument allowing hits in the seventh inning and made the only run for the Cubs in the seventh. Boston scored for Boston.

MEN WHO MADE THEMSELVES FAMOUS THROUGH

Men Who Have Made Themselves Famous Through Nominating Speeches in National Conventions

With the coming national convention the eyes of the United States will be centered upon the individuals who are to present the names of the various presidential aspirants to the convention. It is interesting to note a few of the men who have made themselves famous through this channel of oratory. Historically the first national convention was held in 1831. Before that time nominations were in the hands of a few men, but that method was unpopular. In that year, however, the Whigs or National Republicans, nominated Clay in open convention and the democrats adopted the same system.

It is not strange that the early conventions attracted little or no attention nationally, for the people felt that they had no direct hand in the election of the president. There was usually one man pre-eminent fitted for the place and his election was merely a matter of form. Even in the Lincoln convention in 1860, little oratory was indulged in and up to the time of Robt. G. Ingersoll's great speech nominating James G. Blaine we find little or no attempt at carefully prepared nominating speeches. At the Cincinnati convention the tide ran strong for Blaine and when Colonel Ingersoll, who was then little known outside his native state of Illinois, made his classic nominating speech he won for himself well deserved laurels. Perhaps no other nominating speech has stood the test of time like this wonderful, concise speech. It failed to make Blaine republican candidate for again a "dark horse," in the person of Rutherford B. Hayes, who had no political enemies, carried off the prize and became president. In 1880 the wonderful speech of James A. Garfield of Ohio, in behalf of John Sherman, at the republican convention, led to his own nomination for the presidency, as also did the "cross of gold" speech of William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska, at the democratic convention in 1896. These are two instances in which nominating speeches have won the nomination for the man making the speech. In 1880 Roscoe Conklyn of New York, attracted national attention by his famous speech nominating Grant for a third term. It is generally conceded, however, that while the speech

BUSINESS IS NOT GOOD NOW

Officials of Milwaukee Road Look
Over the Situation on North Side
and Leave for Dubuque

The work of changing the Milwaukee railroad yards on the north side in order to reduce the danger at the Mill street crossing will not be done in the near future, according to General Manager W. J. Underwood, who looked over the situation yesterday. Mr. Underwood said that he was here on an inspection tour and as the matter had been taken up he looked over the proposition.

He said he was not unfavorable to the plan of moving the yards, but that the company would be unable to go to the great expense at present. When business picked up and the future warranted such a large expenditure the company will do the work, he declared.

It is a well known fact among people who are informed on the subject, he said, that the railroads are doing little work anywhere at present on account of the presidential election so it is not unreasonable to assume that the work will be commenced in the near future.

Julia Mickelstad and Arthur Gilbertson were united in marriage last evening at 8 o'clock at the Charles Street Norwegian Lutheran church, Rev. Vik performing the ceremony.

After the ceremony a large reception was given at the residence of the bride on George street. The bride was dressed in white Persian lawn with a bridal wreath and veil. She carried a large cluster of bridal roses. The bridesmaids were dressed in white and carried carnations.

The young couple will be at home at 1506 Kane street, where they will start housekeeping.

CAPT. FUGINA TO USE THE CHIPPEWA

Excursionists on Capt. Fugina's excursion boat Rutledge this summer will have the advantage of the big double-decked pleasure barge "Chippewa" in connection. This is the largest and handsomest barge on the upper river and is 100 feet long and 20 feet wide. It was used by Capt. Fugina with the Columbia and Fountain City excursion steamers and the steamer Rutledge is now at Stillwater to bring the barge down.

The Rutledge will run out of La Crosse to Winona and Fountain City with the excursion of the Yeomen on Sunday, and Thursday of next week will run one of their popular family excursions to Winona and Fountain City.

POLISH SOCIETY TO HOLD PICNIC

The Polish National Aid society is making preparations for a big picnic to be held at the Shooting Park in July. John Blajeska has been chosen chairman of the committee on arrangements.

was remarkable if lost for Grant the nomination, for it was so sarcastic and vitriolic that it injured Grant's case among the lukewarm friends who might have been turned to his side by a more diplomatic speech. Conklyn's manner was arrogant and insolent to a degree. He was fond of the spectacular and with his 306 Grant delegates back of him, seemed to think he could bully the convention into giving him the 70 additional votes needed for a clear majority. Nothing like Conklyn's conduct has ever been seen at any national convention before or since.

Frank S. Black of New York, who nominated Roosevelt in 1904, carried the convention with him and made himself an acknowledged leader through this speech. Other great nominating speeches have been made by Bourke Cockran of New York; Leon Abbot of New Jersey, who nominated Cleveland in 1892; Chauncey M. Depew of New York, whose speech for McKinley, was the most notable oration of the republican convention of 1900, and James B. Foraker of Ohio, who nominated McKinley in 1896 and 1900.

by La Crosse Man—Most Successful Convention Closed

The La Crosse Valley Association of Baptists closed a most successful session at the Tabernacle Baptist church last evening. The convention was considered to be the most successful one held for several years.

Sparta will get the next convention of the association. At a business meeting George Marvin, Jr., was selected as a representative of the Wisconsin Baptist association. Rev. Sanders was also selected to give the annual address at Sparta next year.

The meeting yesterday was devoted to a number of addresses and musical selections. Rev. Paville spoke very interestingly on "Modern Defects." Mrs. Ida Tilson addressed the audience on an interesting subject entitled "The Prayer Service of the Church." Other speakers were Rev. Smith of Warrens, Rev. Henry of Tomah, and Rev. Edmunds of Beaver Dam.

The evening was taken up by two addresses. Rev. F. Walker Pugh of Sparta gave an address called "The Spot of Blood" which was thoroughly appreciated by the audience. Rev. R. S. Gordon of Milwaukee held the attention of the congregation with his highly interesting address called "Clouds and Rainbows." Mr. Gordon is an excellent speaker and every one present enjoyed his talk immensely. After this talk the benediction was given and the meeting closed until the session held at Sparta next year.

These figures were compiled by an enthusiastic member of the club just prior to the election of four new members whose mileage bring the total up close to three and one half million.

In Asparagus Time

Senator Beveridge, at a dinner in Indianapolis, said during the course of asparagus:

"This asparagus is superb. Its flavor helps us to pardon Fontenelle."

"Fontenelle?" murmured a young lady, in a puzzled voice.

"Yes, Fontenelle," said the well read senator. "Don't you know the story? Listen, then."

"Fontenelle lived to be 100. He attributed his longevity to asparagus. As the consumptives go in for milk and eggs, he went in for asparagus—thrice daily—as long as the season lasted."

Archbishop Dubois had almost an equal love for the pale, sweet sticks. He liked them with a dressing of drawn butter, but Fontenelle preferred vinegar and oil.

Mme. de Tencin once invited these two asparagus lovers to dinner. Half the asparagus course was prepared with oil and vinegar, the other half with drawn butter, and on Fontenelle's arrival the hostess explained this arrangement to him.

"But just as the dinner hour arrived there came a pallid messenger from the Archbishop's house. The good Archbishop Dubois was dead."

"Dead," cried Fontenelle.

"Dead," the messenger dolefully repeated.

"Really dead?" said Mme. de Tencin.

"Alas, yes, madame; dead irrevocably," answered the messenger.

"Then he won't be here to dinner?" murmured Fontenelle.

"Naturally not," the messenger agreed.

"Fontenelle leaped hastily to his feet. He ran to the door, and opened it."

"Then he shouted across the hall to the white-capped cook in the kitchen:—

"Batiste, all the asparagus with oil and vinegar!"—New York Times.

Perhaps the most faithful assistant which Harry S. New, chairman of the republican national committee has during his present strenuous days in Chicago, preparing for the great republican gathering June 16, is his charming wife, Mrs. New. Fully a thousand persons were present in her husband's present prominent position. She is with Chairman New in Chicago and it is said that she is one of his most valued assistants in the work preparatory to the great conference. Mrs. New has one great fad and that fad is a collection of newspaper pictures and newspaper cartoons relating to her husband.

HANGS ON BIRTHDAY.

ST. CHARLES, Mo., June 5.—William Jeffries was hanged yesterday for the murder of William Wussler, a farmer, in March, 1905. Fully a thousand persons were present. The hangman's noose was virtually a birthday gift to Jeffries, as this was his 28th birthday.

WORKS ALL DAY And Studies at Night on Grape-Nuts Food.

Some of the world's great men have worked during the day and studied evenings to fit themselves for greater things. But it requires a good constitution generally to do this.

A Ga. man was able to keep it up with ease after he had learned the sustaining power of Grape-Nuts, although he had failed in health before he changed his food supply. He says:

"Three years ago I had a severe attack of stomach trouble which left me unable to eat anything but bread and water.

"The nervous strain at my office from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. and improper food caused my health to fail rapidly. Cereals and so-called 'Foods' were tried without benefit until I saw Grape-Nuts mentioned in the paper.

"In hopeless desperation I tried this food and at once gained strength, flesh and appetite. I am now able to work all day at the office and study at night, without the nervous exhaustion that was usual before I tried Grape-Nuts.

"It leaves me strengthened, refreshed, satisfied; nerves quieted and toned up, brain-waste restored, and intellect brightened. I would have been a living skeleton, or more likely a dead one by this time, if it had not been for Grape-Nuts." "There's a Reason."

NEW LAW MAKES ALL MALES 18 TO 45 MILITIAMEN

ADD 150,000 MEN TO ARMY

Measure Hurried Through Late in Session Appropriates $2,000,000 Annually—Efficiency Menaced

Washington Bureau of The La Crosse Tribune. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5. (By J. C. Welliver.)

That congress at a single stroke in the closing days of the session added a force of 150,000 men to the army of the United States is a fact that has as yet become scarcely appreciated.

The bill to increase the efficiency of the militia, which was pushed through congress and signed by the president, is in many respects the most important piece of military legislation for many years. It went through congress with but scant notice in view of its importance. Yet under its operation the power of the president to conduct a war on short notice and to have at his command a vast body of trained men, far exceeds any power in these respects ever before possessed by the chief executive in this country in time of peace. The authority of the president over the organized militia or national guard is greatly increased and, moreover, the legislation undoubtedly means that the national guard of the different states is to be brought to a high standard of military perfection and that without much delay.

Regular Army and Guard Wanted. By this bill, the national guard has been converted into an efficient and thoroughly-equipped reserve for the regular army and the relations between the guard and the regular army force have been made much closer.

So far reaching is the bill, that John Sharp Williams, the democratic leader of the house, declared on the floor that the bill gave the president the right to carry on war without a declaration of war by congress and also to send the militia into foreign countries. The bill had strong opposition, too, from such leading republicans as Representative Tawney, chairman of the appropriations committee, and Representative Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee. Mr. Tawney took the position the bill would add 150,000 men to the standing army and he opposed it because he declared it gave too much authority to the president over the militia of the different states. Nevertheless, in spite of strong opposition, the bill got through the house and in the senate had easy sailing. It was promptly signed by the president.

Social Features in Background. Whatever may be the opinions, however, about the need for the legislation or about the wisdom of enacting it, there is no dispute that the result of it is going to be to make the national guard of the country a real soldiery. In recent years, since the enactment of the Dick law, there has been a marked improvement in the national guard. Many organizations exist that are capable of taking the field tomorrow and giving a good account of themselves. On the other hand, there is too much of a disposition in some of the guard organizations to exist chiefly for pink tea purposes and ball room functions. If the new law is lived up to, it is safe to predict that in a few years the guard will have ceased to be a very desirable body for anyone to belong to for social reasons or for any other reasons but those of love of the military.

The original Dick law provided that the militia could be called out by the president for nine months. The new law allows it to be called out for the term of enlistment. The national guard is referred to in the bill as the "organized militia" and when called into service it is to be preferred over any other volunteer force that may be raised. The president can call out the organized militia for service within or without the United States. The militia is to consist of every able-bodied male citizen of the different states and territories and every able-bodied male who has declared his intention to become a citizen, more than 18 and less than 45 years of age. It is to be divided into two classes, the national guard or organized militia and the remaining militia or reserve militia.

Discipline Same as in Army.

It is provided that on and after January 1, 1910, the discipline of the organized militia or national guard shall be the same as that of the regular army. It is the purpose of the war department to insist on adherence to this provision. As soon as may be, the guard is to be brought up to regular army standard in respect to discipline and equipment and it will be the plan to put every organization of the guard in readiness for prompt field service. Through regular annual maneuvers, if the war department can have its way, the members of the national guard will get good opportunities for training in conjunction with regular troops.

An Efficient Army.

The bill as enacted leaves little loophole for men or officers of the national guard to escape service when called out by the president. It is provided that every officer and enlisted man who shall be called forth shall be mustered for service without further enlistment and without further medical examination prior to muster except for those states and territories that have not adopted the standard of medical examination prescribed for the regular army. Officers or men who refuse or neglect to present themselves for such muster are subject to trial and punishment as a courtmartial composed of militia officers may direct. The measure carries an annual appropriation of $2,000,000, to enable the general government to furnish clothing, arms and ammunition to the organized militia. Army officers and militia enthusiasts alike believe the legislation will be the making of the national guard and will convert it into a force of volunteer citizen soldiers capable of serving in the field alongside of the regulars in any sort of a campaign.

IS A PHOTOGRAPH FORGERY SUBJECT

QUESTION RAISED BY ALLEGED RETOUCHING OF ALLISON

Cummins Men Re-sented Charge About Old Man's Pretense and Row Was Warm

Washington Bureau of The La Crosse Tribune. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4. (By J. C. Welliver.)

Is it forgery to retouch a photograph so as to make the subject look a few years older than he really ought to look?

If it isn't forgery to do that, is it a slander to charge that somebody did it, when he didn't really do it?

That was one of the issues in the senatorial campaign which has been finished out in Iowa. Governor Cummins is running for the republican nomination against Senator Allison, and reports of late have indicated that he was likely to carry away the plums. His people claim their control of the statewide primary by 25,000 while the Allison claim mis about 12,000. Each side laughs at the claims of the other.

Recently there appeared in circulation in Iowa a photograph of Senator Allison, which represents him as a very old and broken man. It was used as the basis of an argument that he is too old to remain longer in the senate.

The Allison people, after some inquiries and consideration, announced that the photograph was a forgery; that is, that it was from a sadly retouched negative which once represented Senator Allison. It was claimed that the finishing touches were the ones which made the veteran senator look so old; and so they engaged busily in denouncing the whole performance as an outrage of the worst character.

On the part of the Cummins people it was insisted that the photograph not only is genuine, but it was taken about a year ago, when the senator was younger than he is now. The controversy as to the genuineness of the picture became so hot that they all forgot about the Bland-Allison act, the crime of '75, the Sherman silver purchase provision, the tariff and all the other features of Senator Allison's record, and devoted themselves in the main to the consideration of that photograph.

BAD LANDS SUPPLY CEMENT

PIERRE, S. D. June 5.—Samples of the materials of which the Bad Lands of western Dakota are composed have been sent east for tests and have been pronounced perfect for the manufacture of cement. On the basis of the report, a company has been formed at interior, in southern Stanley county, which will attempt to build up the cement industry for that part of the state and if it succeeds, that country, looked upon as worthless, may become the most valuable part of the state, outside the gold mines.

AN AUSTRALIAN WELCOME

(Auckland Weekly News.)

The American Armada is coming into Australian ports to a welcome warmer than has ever before been given to another flag; a welcome so general and universal that our southern fellow colonists are making suggestions for the greeting of the fleet in Auckland, which we should hardly venture to make here, lest our motive should be misconstrued. Under all these conditions it would be not only unwise and impolitic but an unnecessary parade of indifference for the imperial government not to have a respectable squadron in these waters to meet and greet the Americans.

ANTI-SEMITICS IN DREYFUS ASSAULTPOLICE BELIEVE GREGORI

Papers Come Out With Bold Statements Saying They Preferred
Execution Squad to Do Job

PARIS, June 5.—Firm in the belief that Louis Antheime Gregori, who attempted to assassinate Major Dreyfus in the Pantheon yesterday, was acting as an agent of the Anti-Semitic organization, the police today made a thorough search of his Paris apartments and country villa at Parmain in the hope of finding compromising papers. No word would be given out as to whether the search was successful, but the fact that the police are continuing their activity leads to the belief that they have discovered damaging evidence.

Any attempt to reopen the old Dreyfus issue at the Gregori trial will be frustrated, it is believed, on the ground that such matter is wholly extraneous. The fury of the nationalist papers is clearly evident. "L'Action Francaise" prints a statement by Charles Maurras which the police are investigating. Maurras says that Wednesday night a "resolute patriot" visited M. Daudet, Lieut. Bolefleury and himself, and offered to kill Dreyfus, but the proposal was rejected.

The editorial ends with "What we ask for Dreyfus isn't six balls from a revolver, but twelve bullets of an execution squad."

etc., their entire year's salary is paid them. In case of their death it goes to their heirs. During an illness they receive their salary until they are able to return to work.

La Follette Made Game Fight.

"Yes, La Follette undoubtedly made a game fight but in my opinion he would have ultimately lost out. As this was the long session congress is not compelled to adjourn at any specified time and it was purely a matter of physical endurance."

Abolition of Irons a Law.

The bill drawn up by Mr. Esch abolishing the use of irons in the navy as a means of punishment is one of the important things done at this session. Mr. Esch was first acquainted with the conditions in the matter existing in the navy by Mrs. Olberg of this city. After hearing her story he immediately drew up the bill and it is now a law.

"That is really of more importance," said Mr. Esch, "than the majority of the people realize. It affects 70,000 men, the personnel of the navy."

"It was an exceptionally hard one to get through for the reason that it was one of the old rules of the navy and traditional matters in the army and the navy are the hardest kind to get away from. If you remember it took a long time to abolish flogging at the mast. That was what might be termed a time honored custom in the navy."

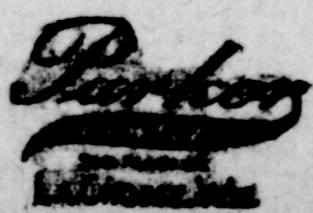

Mr. Esch said that just when operations will be started at Sparta on the rifle and artillery range, cannot be positively stated, although it may be begun in July. The appropriation of $150,000 for that purpose will be available at that time. There will not be much work done there in the way of building or making improvements, as Mr. Esch understands that the real purpose is to secure a spot presenting all the conditions of vantage ground and obstruction encountered in the actual battlefield.

The second prize consisted of two pounds of butter put up by Charles Linse and the third was a pound package of the Bryant-Sisson company's Golden Leaf coffee.

Mr. Nielsen's Talk

Mr. M. D. Nielsen, manager of the La Crosse Pure Food company, delivered an interesting and instructive address on milk. He showed the different uses that it is put to and proved its food value. Perhaps the most interesting part of Mr. Nielsen's address was that devoted to explaining the process and value of pasteurization.

According to Mr. Nielsen in a modern pasteurizing institution all the implements and machinery are steamed after being used. The floor also comes in for its share of the cleaning and boiling water is used for this purpose. The theory that has been advanced by some that to pasteurize milk is to take away all the food products in it, was exploded by Mr. Nielsen. He showed clearly how the germs are exterminated and the parts that are of any nutritive value retained.

PALIWODA'S CASE IS STRONG TODAY

The defense had all the best of the argument in circuit court this morning in the trial of John Paliwoda, charged with burglarizing the Schmidt grocery store on the north side and stealing a wagon load of supplies.

Most of the witnesses introduced were residents of the north side and of Indian hill, who had known Paliwoda for years and all testified to his previous good reputation for honesty and truthfulness.

Paliwoda who is a young man, denies the charge and while the stories told by himself and wife concerning the goods found in their home are somewhat conflicting, it is believed that the strength of the case of the defense made a decided impression on the jury this morning.

The case will likely go to the jury this afternoon, unless it is taken out of the jury's hands by Judge Fruit.

Other Decisions.

The court sustained the decision of the lower court in the case of Aid. W. C. Okershauser, Milwaukee. Okershauser was convicted of soliciting a bribe of $500 from Adam Gross of the Gross Coal company for his vote and influence in the passage of an ordinance granting the company authority to construct a certain sidetrack. After the verdict was rendered it was discovered that one of the jurors, Ignatz Gorski, could not understand English and the defendant appealed from an order overruling his motion for an arrest of judgment.

The court affirmed the decision of the lower court in awarding John C. Pfeiffer vs. E. B. Marshall and F. P. Wilbur $1,772.50 on a note on an alleged land contract.

The case in which Lizzie Hamann was awarded $3,500 from the Milwaukee Bridge company for the death of her husband caused by a 13,300 pound machine falling upon him when not properly safeguarded was sustained.

The court reversed the decision of the Milwaukee lower court awarding Herman Weber $3,750 from Geo. C. Swallow as the result of an injury by being hit by Swallow's auto. Swallow appealed claiming contributory negligence.

Charles Gatzweiler, a traveling man, was thrown from the platform of a Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light company street car by a sudden jerk at a curve. He lost a foot and was paid $2,250 by the Continental Casualty company. He then sued the street car company for damages. The company interposed its answer in abatement and a demurrer to the same was sustained. The company appealed. The supreme court today sustained the demurrer order.

A lower court decision dissolving an injunction against the Eastern Railway company of Minnesota to prevent its building over the land of Warren E. McCord, was reversed, and the injunction stands.

The case in which Charles Pollock appealed a sentence of five years for killing Frank Tomlinson, because the presiding judge issued a charge to the jury unfavorable to the defendant, was decided against Pollock. Alfred K. Gots secured a judgment of $300 in lower court from the Power and Mining Machine company for injuries received in an unprotected cog and the supreme court today refused to interfere with the decision.

The decision of the lower court in the case of J. M. Lehr, receiver for the Standard Lead & Zinc Smelting and Mining company, involving lands in Arizona, and demanding an accounting and division of the assets was reversed.

The will of Mary Carney was admitted to probate in Milwaukee county and the circuit court reversed the order on grounds of mental incapacity and undue influence. Frak Carney appealed. The supreme court affirms the lower court's decision.

The court affirmed the decision giving Helen Kozik $200 of John Capiewski's money for wounded affections not healed by the wedding ceremony.

The case of the state ex rel. Wm. B. Weller vs. Edwin Hinkel, city clerk, Milwaukee, involving the payment of tax upon stock in trust companies organized under the laws of 1898, was affirmed. Hinkel won in the lower court.

An action of A. D. Ahnew vs. Frank Baldwin to recover $368.42 due on the sale of two lots in West Allis, was affirmed.

HOFFMAN MAY BE LIFE CRIPPLE

It is now feared by relatives that Paul Hoffman, the man who had the misfortune to be caught in the machinery of the merry-go-round in this city, will be crippled for life as the result of his injuries.

At the time of the accident the muscles of his leg were torn off. He was removed to the hospital. Serious doubts are expressed by physicians as to whether or not he will ever be able to use the member. He will be removed to his home in Horicon, Wis., some time this week.

JOHNSON CALLS ON FEW.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Gov. Johnson of Minnesota put his head in the lion's jaw last night by dropping in at the Auditorium Annex. He said he "just wanted to see the big noise of the republican party." With that end in view, he shook hands with Harry S. New and Col. Stone and told them they "seemed to be doing well."

"My southern trip was most satisfactory," said the governor. "If Bryan has the delegates there, as he says he has, I certainly have the north with me."

Made In A Model Factory.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is made in the same factory as Ivory Soap.

In point of completeness, cleanliness and beauty, the Ivorydale factories of The Procter & Gamble Co. have few equals and no superiors.

It is there that Ivory Soap is made.

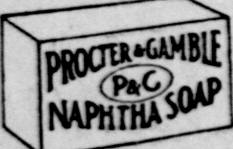

There, also, P. & G. Naphtha Soap is manufactured.

It is not necessary to tell you anything about Ivory Soap.

You use it; and you know that for bath, toilet and fine laundry purposes, it is unequalled.

The same thing is true of P. & G. Naphtha Soap. For quick, easy washing, it is unequalled.

The price of "P. & G." is higher than that of ordinary laundry soap; but as one cake will last longer and do more work than two cakes of ordinary soap, it pays to use it.

CRAVES CHARITY; WAS ONCE WEALTHY

PRESIDENT OF C. & N. W. AT ONE TIME, IS A BEGGAR

SAD TALE OF C. J. L. MEYER

Early Mayor of Fond du Lac Meets Reverses and Partner of Senator Sawyer Is a Pauper

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—With a request for admittance to the Milwaukee county poorhouse, C. J. L. Meyer, the first president of the Chicago & Northwestern road, and formerly one of the best known and most prosperous business men in Wisconsin, appeared at the office of the Associated Charities yesterday in the language of the streets, "all in, down and out." Mr. Meyer was mayor of Fond du Lac, founder of the Wisconsin Land and Lumber company at Hermansville, Mich., and a business associate of Senator Philletus Sawyer.

He fitted but ill with the rest of the applicants when he approached Agent Frelson and with head bent and infinite sadness marking his lowered voice, asked if he could be admitted to the Milwaukee poorhouse. He lives in Chicago, 93 Aberdeen street, where he has a room that he soon must give up for lack of funds.

"I thought that I would come here rather than go to the Chicago institution," said Mr. Meyer, "and as I am here a pauper I suppose you must wonder what brought me to these straits."

Then with well modulated voice, he told of his former success, with head back and the old light in his eye, his voice grew husky as he progressed in his tale to where failure first began to appear. He told of the palatial home once his in Fond du Lac; of the large sash and door factory, now the plant of the Winnebago Furniture Manufacturing company in that city. Later he went to Hermansville, Mich., and organized the Wisconsin Land and Lumber company, one of the largest of like institutions in the country.

Failure crossed his path and then he came to Milwaukee, where he lived for a time from hand to mouth until at last in desperation he moved to Chicago and tried to exist there. At every turn his weakening efforts were crossed by the unkind hand of fate and yesterday, despondent and broken down, C. J. L. Meyer, the once prosperous, took the last step and applied for public charity, who himself has dispensed charity in his earlier and better days.

He has a son in Chicago, also penniless, he says, and unable to support his father, and two daughters married to rich men, have become too comfortable in the lap of luxury to care for him, he declared, and his requests for aid remain unanswered.

The saddest blow of all was when Agent Frelson told the pitiful gentleman that he had lost his right of entrance to the Milwaukee poorhouse by moving to Chicago and the old man winced when given this reluctant information. Offers of money made by Agent Frelson were firmly but kindly refused, as Mr. Meyer left the room. Mr. Frelson will attempt to secure aid for the unfortunate from his daughters and it is believed that hundreds of men and women who tasted the fruits of his former hospitality and generosity, will rush to his relief when acquainted with his condition.

NEED STATE'S AID

WAUPACA, Wis., June 5.—At the invitation of the Business Men's Advancement association, Prof. W. O. Hotchkiss of the state university and Otto Dorner, vice president of the State Good Roads association, addressed a meeting on good roads and the pending constitutional amendment. A large number of business men of the city and farmers appeared to favor the expenditure of more money for permanent country roads and city streets and the general opinion was that the only solution of the question will be some form of state aid.

ELK CONVENTION GOES TO PORTAGE

WILL BE HELD THERE IN JUNE, 1909

DR. GATTERDAM A TRUSTEE

Well Known La Crosse Dentist Is on Executive Board—J. M. Kehlor of Kenosha Is President

RACINE, Wis., June 5.—John M. Kehlor, past exalted ruler of Kenosha lodge, No. 750, B. P. O. E., and former district deputy of Wisconsin, was elected president of the Wisconsin State association of Elks at the seventh annual convention held here, defeating George L. Dwinell, sheriff of Waukesha county, by a vote of 52 to 2. The supporters of Mr. Dwinell who at the session Wednesday afternoon were certain of victory, were not at the final session yesterday morning, having departed for home; delegates from the Waukesha lodge also had returned home.

W. J. Teckmeyer, Madison, was elected first vice president; W. H. Pahl, Baraboo, second vice president, and M. E. Walker, Racine, third vice president.

H. A. Gunderson, the lone representative of Portage lodge, No. 675, who captured the convention for 1909, was elected secretary, and F. A. Labudde, Oshkosh, was re-elected treasurer.

The new board of trustees consists of F. J. Callman, Madison; Edward Grassler, Milwaukee; O. L. Trenary, Kenosha; E. A. Gatterdam, La Crosse, and Fred T. Darvill, Portage.

The Rev. Thomas Edyard Barr of the Peoples' church, Milwaukee, was elected chaplain.

The Wisconsin State Association of Elks will be held in Portage the first Tuesday in June, 1909.

The convention before adjournment voted thanks to George Burrows of Madison, the retiring president, and to the local lodge and citizens of Racine.

Madison ladies received the cash prize of $50 which was hung up for the largest delegation of ladies attending the convention. For this prize Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha were barred.

HORSEMAN SUES HIS STAKEHOLDER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—J. W. Flack, former owner of the famous Hazel Patch, is in trouble over a second horse of almost equal fame, Norma Colbert. He charges that he entered upon a bet with one Emil Gumz in the sum of $50 on the relative merits of their respective horses. They turned the stakes over to Michel Neacy. Then, for some reason or other the race that was to decide the matter was never run. So the owner of Norma Colbert endeavored to get his money back.

"Nix!" said Neacy, "Norma's got to run."

So Flack has asked the court to force Neacy to give him back his money.

ROOSTER EPISODE ENDS.

CHIPPewa FALLS, Wis., June 5.—Officer King has hauled down a dead rooster which former Chief of Police Thornton had placed on the top of a pole, about ten feet from the kitchen window of his neighbor, James White. Mr. Thornton's rooster wandered into Mr. White's yard and performed stunts in the garden. Mr. White shot it and threw it into Mr. Thornton's yard. The board of health interfered, after three days and sent the police for the dead rooster.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men," said the man who habitually quotes Shakespeare, "which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune." "Yes," replied the man who had married an heiress; "I remember the tide that led to my fortune well." "What tide was that?" "It was eventide, and we were sitting in the garden."

"Have you ever been cross-examined before?" inquired a barrister of a witness who was occupying his attention. "Have I?" exclaimed the man. "Didn't I just tell you I am married?"

MADE FROM S.S.S. ROOTS AND HERBS A SAFE AND RELIABLE BLOOD PURIFIER

In the time of our forefathers the forests and fields were the only laboratories from which they could procure their medicines. They searched out and compounded the different roots, herbs and barks into remedies, many of which have been handed down to succeeding generations, and continuously used with satisfactory results. Among the very best of these old time preparations is S. S. S., a medicine made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, in such combination as to make it the greatest of all blood purifiers. This absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. makes it the one medicine that may be used without fear of harmful results in any way. Most blood medicines on the market contain mercury, potash, or some other strong mineral. These act with bad effect on the system, upsetting the stomach, interfering with the digestion, affecting the bowels, and when used for a prolonged period of time often cause salivation. No such effects ever result from the use of S. S. S., and it may be taken by children as safely as by older people. For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Malaria, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, and all other troubles caused by impure or poisoned blood, S. S. S. is a perfect remedy. It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, impurities, humors or unhealthy matter, and makes the blood pure and rich. It eliminates every particle of the taint of inherited blood trouble, purifies and strengthens the weak, deteriorated blood, and establishes the foundation for good health. S. S. S. is Nature's Blood Purifier, and its many years of successful service, with a steadily increasing demand for it, is the best evidence of its value in all blood troubles. Book on the blood and any medical advice free of charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Miss Dorris Keane is said by critics to have the most beautiful profile of any actress on the American stage. Her beautiful nose and well rounded lips and chin are so perfectly molded that many famous artists have sought Miss Keane as a model. She is, however, thoroughly satisfied with her stage career, in which she is having such remarkable success.

A NOTEWORTHY SPEECH

(Milwaukee News.) It appears from a Washington dispatch to the Uncle Ike organ that the statisticians have discovered that Senator La Follette's filibuster speech weighed nineteen pounds, that he spoke eighteen and one-half hours, at a rate of sixty words a minute, that the aggregate of words was 66,000, and that it was the longest in time, heaviest in weight and contained the greatest number of words of any speech delivered in the senate.

His Unrecognizable Work. Met within the drawing room, a certain German professor is an entertaining old gentleman. MAYOR PROHIBITS SALOON STALLS

WAUKESHA, Wis., June 5.—By a unanimous vote the city council ordered doors and curtains removed from all side rooms in saloons and Mayor Glenn says he will see that the order is enforced. The action was taken after the council decided that no further action be taken on ordinances abolishing stalls in saloons and requiring screen and curtains removed from saloon windows. The report stated that the statutes and ordinances now in force were sufficient. No attempt will be made to remove the window screens and curtains, the side rooms having been the bone of contention. Mayor Glenn says the sale of liquor to several minors has been reported to him and he hopes to soon have the offending saloon keepers in court.

Can you assist me along road, mum? Lady of the House personally I cannot; but I will unmy dog, and I know he will be pleased to do so.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

SHEBOYGAN.—The report by the state board of health on the condition of Sheboygan's water supply was submitted to the city council with a recommendation of Mayor Dieckmann that the city refuse payment of its bills for water rental until a pure water supply was furnished. The state board of health recommends an immediate extension of the intake pipe.

MADISON.—Twelve Madison attorneys, headed by John O. Sanborn, attorney for the "Soo" railroad, were compelled to walk back to Madison from Lake Waubesa. The men went to Waubesa to hold a meeting of the bar association and intended to flag the limited train which passes the station. The train refused to stop.

EAU CLAIRE.—As she was passing University hill park after dark on her way home, Mrs. E. A. Pierce was attacked by a strange man who jumped out from behind a tree and threw her to the ground. Her cries for assistance were so loud that the man was frightened away.

MANITOWOC.—Orders have been issued from the postal department for transportation of all mails from this city to Two Rivers over the interurban line of the Manitowoc & Northern Traction company. The order takes the contract from the Chicago & Northwestern road.

BEAVER DAM.—Edward Kahl of this city was assaulted by two tramps near Gary, Ind., and after being robbed of what money he possessed, he was thrown from the train. It is considered a miracle that Kahl was not instantly killed. His condition is serious.

PRENTICE.—Emerson Bros. of this city and Butternut, have sold over 17,000 acres of land in northern Price and the southern part of Iron and Ashland counties, to the Good Land company of Phillips, the sale being subject to timber reservation on all but 2,000 acres.

BELOIT.—Twelve owners of country homes on the River road north of the city, will sue the Beloit Water Power company for damages alleged to have been done to property by the backing up of water in Rock river when the dam was closed three years ago.

MARSHFIELD.—W. H. Upham of this city, former governor of Wisconsin, purchased in Michigan City, Ind., a launch in which he says he will make a pleasure trip down the Mississippi river. Mr. Upham returned from Europe but a few weeks ago.

BELOIT.—The Rev. Dennis Conar, a Carmelite father and chaplain of Bellevue hospital, New York city, officiated at the wedding in St. Thomas' Catholic church here of his cousin, Miss Estelle Murphy of Beloit, and Harry Lynch of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

JEFFERSON.—A representative of the Wisconsin Central railroad, who visited this city recently, stated that the management of that road was contemplating the immediate construction of a branch from Portage to Burlington.

HANDSOME "RED WING II" HERE

36 H. P. ARRIVES
ON 800 MILE TRIP TO ILL.

Newest Boat Built by Up River
Company Stops Here Enroute to Havana to Enter Excursions

The "Red Wing II," a handsome
45 foot canopy cruiser built by the Red Wing Boat Manufacturing company, stopped at La Crosse yesterday enroute to Havana, Ill., where she will be used in the excursion
business at "Quiver Beach," a summer resort on the Illinois river, operated by I. R. Brown.

In the boat was Mr. and Mrs. I.
R. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Atchison and Frank B. Brown of Havana. They were accompanied here
from Red Wing, Minn., by J. R.
Trautman, manager of the Red Wing company.

The "Red Wing II." is of excellent design and has beautiful curves.
She is equipped with a 36 horse power 6 cylinder engine of the new 4-cycle type made by the Red Wing
company, with aluminum base. During the 100 mile trip from Red Wing no trouble was experienced with the engine, which is one of the finest ever seen here.

The boat left Winona at 8:07 yesterday morning and reached La Crosse at 3:20 p. m., against a heavy head wind. The "Red Wing II." is not designed for speed, but will carry a large party of people.
The boat rides easy and in the heavy swells of Lake Pepin did not ship a particle of water, although Mr.
Brown says smaller boats on the lake were so discomfited by the waves that they would disappear
from sight at times.

The "Red Wing II." is equipped with a stationary canopy top with attachable side curtains and is beautifully finished in light oak, with brass nickel rails fore and aft and on top of the canopy. The engine is equipped with a double Crandall oil-ing system, an Apple dynamo, storage
battery and 12 switch ignition system, and has the latest improved Connecticut coils. She is also equipped with an air compressor which fills an air tank to operate a shrill whistle. She has a reverse gear and altogether is one of the most elaborate and complete boats ever seen
in local waters.

DR. W. L. HEATH, SUCCESSOR OF
S. MORIKUBO, THE CHIRO-PRACTOR.

"Wisdom is justified by its children." When I made my advent in this city, even well-meaning and intelligent people shook their heads
and thought I was "an innocent looking quack." Time, however,
amply demonstrated the greatness of Chiropractic science, and my work,
which sincerely courts investigation,
has vindicated my integrity of purpose, and my sincerity has won innumerable friends for Chiropractic.
Even prejudice which fought hard against me and Chiropractic, is now
at rest under the sod.

This victory has not been gained accidentally. You all know how hard all the malefactors fought against the Chiropractor, but they were routed for the simple reason that right should prevail. It is common sense and judgment of the people of La Crosse and of this northwest which have pronounced the verdict that Chiropractic is a boon
to suffering humanity, and that it is a privilege of these people in this fair city.

It is my privilege and delight to announce that the work I have begun will be continued. My successor, Dr. Heath, the Chiropractor, is a graduate of the Palmer School of Chiropractic. He is father of Mrs.
B. J. Palmer, whose husband is the star in the whole Chiropractic world.

WEDDED WEDNESDAY.

Miss Nellie Miller and Benjamin Schoenfeld, both of this city, were married Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, in 11th and Mississippi streets, by Rev. Ju-number of friends had congregated.

people of Alaska imagine that they want territorial government, but when the proposition of maintaining their own establishment is put to them they balk. It would be possible to devise a plan by which the timber, coal and copper and gold of the territory should be traded off to speculators and capitalists, in exchange for revenues to run the government; but that in the end would not be desirable. The question is new. It demands the development of some new process of government which this country doesn't know about. A number of statesmen are looking into the colonial systems of Britain, Germany and Japan, in the effort to get an idea on which to base a new scheme of things in Australia. Something must be done, and the man with the right idea will be welcomed by the committees on territories.

COMMITTEE MEETS AT FAIR GROUNDS

A meeting will be held Sunday morning of the general committee of the Saengerfest association at the fair grounds, when plans will be made for the large picnic to be held there during the Saengerfest. Plans will be made for places of the tents of the various societies and other arrangements will be talked over. Following the meeting at the fair grounds a meeting will be held at the offices of the secretary when the final details will be taken up, and other matters for the Saengerfest attended to.

Secretary Utermoehl received a letter from the society at Moline, Ill., this morning asking for quarters for a delegation of twenty-five at the fest.

The secretary of the Saengerfest has written to Miss Anna Hickisch, asking for the selections she will render at the festival.

It is understood that the intention of Miss Hickisch is to enjoy her honeymoon in America and while here she will render several selections at the Saengerfest.

ENTER PLEA OF "NOT GUILTY"

Sam White, colored, Frank Voss and Frank Schimschak were brought before Judge Fruit this morning and the charge against the former two changed to receiving stolen goods. The charge against Schimschak was made stealing beer from the H. Baldwin saloon, 218 North Front street. All of the prisoners pleaded not guilty and Attorney Jesse Higbee was appointed to defend them as they are without funds.

The trio are the remaining members of the quartette charged with stealing beer from the Palm Leaf saloon, after it had been closed. The fourth member of the gang has been discharged.

ESCH'S ORATION AT ARLINGTON

EULOGIZES BLUE AND GRAY

Honor Conferred On La Crosse Congressman in Selection to Deliver Speech Upon Occasion

The Memorial Day address of Congressman John J. Esch of this city, at Arlington, the beautiful old Lee manor, was one of the nicest bits of oratory recorded May 30th. The La Crosse representative was honored with the selection as the orator of the day at this stately occasion, which is attended by high officials of Washington.

Mr. Esch's oration was published by the Washington Star in part as follows: "More than two score years have passed since the civil war upheaved our nation to the point of open rupture. A war which called forth for its suppression the energies and sacrifices of more than a million loyal sons. Among these were those whose graves now hallow this sacred ground, this necropolis overlooking the capital, this mecca of a nation's patriotism, Arlington. Among these are those whose memory we this day honor and with whom you, veterans of the republic, were comrades in arms.

"Forty years have in their passage brought a new generation upon the scene whose knowledge of the rebellion comes from tradition or the printed page. You, who have had the rigors of war engraven upon your memories by shot and shell, by bayonet and saber, need no word from me to declare the duties of this day and hour. As members of the Grand Army of the Republic, as comrades with those who have gone before, as soldiers in the Spanish war, you through the cemeteries of the land, followed by a sympathetic people. But to the present generation it seems fitting and proper that a scene in this bloody yet glorious conflict be lifted up as an inspiration, as a standard of the high courage of the armies north and south.

The Day's Memories. "In these changeable and materialistic days we are prone to forget the valorous deeds of our fathers and the principles for which they gladly suffered sickness, wounds and death. If absence of public dangers has begotten apathy and want of patriotism let this day's teachings reinvigorate our minds and hearts with the knowledge of the courageous deeds done by veterans living and dead. Let the story of a single battle, imperfectly narrated though it be, kindle in us a feeling of admiration for the American soldier and of gratitude that in his bravery and devotion the republic has its chief bulwark."

Battle Heroes Are Glorified. Giving word pictures of the battles of Lookout Mountain, Shiloh, Champion Hills and Vicksburg. Representative Esch referred to the brave men who had won them, and said:

"They lived for a name, for their country they died; They were all that to life entwined them. Not soon shall the tears of their country be dried, So long as their friends stay behind."

"On this Memorial Day, with all these tokens of man's mortality about us, the lowly grave, the cross, the towering shaft, the spring flowers which tell of nature's resurrection, a feeling of sadness comes over us which our souls cannot resist, when we remember that these great captains of our nation's salvation, except Howard, with thousands whom they were won't to lead, are already numbered in the bivouac of the dead.

"The great are falling from us one by one. As fall the patriarchs of the forest trees. The wind shall seek them vainly. And the sun gaze on their vacant space for centuries."

Remembrances for Men in Ranks. "In thus justly honoring the names and memories of the great dead let us not forget the claims of those myriads of the rank and file 'who fell in distant lands, on rugged mountain sides, in shady valleys, along the river's winding bank and on the blood-stained plain,' and, above all, let us not forget the unknown heroes here and their lowly graves, 'claiming no tribute but tears.'

"In these days of hero worship we are wont to honor epaulettes and forget the privates in the ranks, through whose bravery those very epaulettes were often-times won. An army makes its general quiver as often as the general makes his army. Within a private's tattered uniform may throb the heart of greatness or beat the brain of genius, awaiting that tide whose flood leads on to fortune and to power.

"To these not only the nation, but we ourselves, owe not merely a debt of gratitude, but a debt far more substantial—a debt that shall cheer their declining years, keep want and hunger from their doors and pave the downward pathway to their graves with joy and peace. Let us not neglect them and theirs while living, and when dead scatter the

NORWEGIANS TO CELEBRATE JUNE 5

SAENGERKOR TO OFFICIATE

Prominent Local Speakers Will Deliver Addresses at Frohnsinn Hall Tonight

The Norwegians will celebrate Norway's new independence day for the first time in La Crosse under auspices of Normanna Sangerkor.

June 7, 1905, the Norwegian storthing (congress) declared King Oscar had broken his pact and the constitution of Norway by refusing to sanction a law past by all parts of the storthing giving Norway a secretary of foreign affairs separate from Sweden, declared themselves a government without a king and separated from Sweden. In memory of this extraordinary event, unequaled in the history of the world, this revolution without bloodshed, which left the two kingdoms Norway and Sweden on still better terms, Normanna Sangerkor have completed arrangements to celebrate the day at Frohnsinn hall this evening, June 5. They have made arrangements for an excellent program with speeches in English and Norwegian, by Messrs. James Thompson and Skaar, songs by the choir, some special Norwegian selections rendered by Kreutz's orchestra. There will be refreshments served, and a dance after the program. Street cars will run after the dance. Invitation has been extended to all Norwegian societies.

Patriotism and Loyalty.

"The children of today will become the leaders of tomorrow. Wise leaders are always mindful of the past and try to guide the people by the light which the past furnishes in the way of experience and inspiration. This memorial celebration should teach us what loyalty and patriotism mean, and its significance will be lost unless we understand that the essence of patriotism and loyalty is sacrifice. It was the great sacrifice of health and life that should make us feel grateful for being permitted to live in a country where thousands freely sacrificed all that it might be united and free.

"Our generation will also have its trials and its sorrows. Let us see to it that it also shall nobly make its sacrifices. A selfish man does not make sacrifices for others, neither does a selfish nation. Our grand republic is not selfish. You have seen her send her soldiers, sacrifice 2,000 lives, and spend over two hundred millions of dollars to drive Spanish tyranny from Cuba. You can search your histories, but you cannot find another example of such a sacrifice.

"While we have much to make us feel proud we must remember that the humble nation, like the humble man, is in no danger of a fall. Not that we should not feel an honest and just pride in our country's deeds, but that we should not be filled with empty boasting or a haughty spirit.

"Memorial day is not a day for exultation, but of consecration to the basic principles of the republic. It is not a day to revive prejudice and bitterness, but to more firmly cement our Union and promote non-sectional patriotism. Each year's observance strengthens our feeling of brotherhood and increases our pride in our common country.

"The hand once raised in patriotic strife now scatters flowers on a brother's grave. The Blue and the Gray of the civil war became the blue of the Spanish war 'as the gray of morning melts into the blue of noon.' The flags captured midst the storm of battle have been returned to their gallant defenders.

"A navy the guns of whose ships once thundered for admission to southern ports is today manned by gallant sailors from every state in the Union; sailors proud to serve under a flag about to be borne as an emblem of peace in the cruise around the world.

"The union of lakes, the union of lands.

The union of states, none can sever;

The union of hearts, the union of hands,

And the flag of the Union forever.

"The uniform of our sailors and soldiers stands for law and order in time of peace and for defense in time of war. In time of war we respect the uniform and those who wear it. In times of peace there are cities wherein it is not respected and where the wearers of it are discriminated against and humiliated. These cities would be among the very first to claim protection in time of need.

"I plead for fair treatment from all our people toward the boys who are enlisted to defend their country on land and sea, whose reward rests not in their wage, but in the honor and respect of their countrymen, and wherever they may be, at home or abroad, let them also remember that they represent in person and uniform the dignity and power of the United States."

In conclusion Representative Esch declared:

"It is here the fate of mafia, anarchy and all the foreign ill or body politic falls heir to must be determined. 'Tis here the remedy for political corruption must be ascertained and dose prescribed. 'Tis here the contending sects and creeds must find the common ground and live in peace and harmony together. 'Tis here the greed of capital and the demands of labor must evolve a fair adjustment. Great need is there for captains to lead the people in these times of social and political unrest."

Grubb—I hear your last novel has already appeared in its sixth edition. How did you manage to become so phenomenally popular? Scrubb—Very simple. I put a "personal" in the papers saying that I was looking for a wife who is something like the heroine of my novel. Within two days the first edition was sold out.

KETCHELL GIVEN BOUT WITH PAPKE

MICHIGAN LAD TOO MUCH FOR HIS OPPONENT

6000 WITNESS THE CONTEST

Ketchell Has Better of Argument All Through Ten Rounds and Forced the Fighting

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—(Special.)—In a furious ten round battle before the Milwaukee Boxing club at the Hippodrome last evening, Stanley Ketchell of Grand Rapids, Mich., won the decision over Billy Papke of Kewanee, Ill., in a contest marked by terrific onslaught by the Michigan fighter.

Both fighters entered the ring at shortly after 10:30 and were cheered by a crowd of 6,000 composed of fighters, managers and followers of the fighting game. On entering the ring the betting increased with the odds favoring Ketchell 10 to 8. Both fighters appeared in good condition. Referee McGuigan entered the ring and after the regular routine announcements and shaking hands the first round opened with Papke delivering a hard punch to Ketchell's jaw. All through the fight it looked like Ketchell had the better of the argument. He landed almost at will and was very aggressive. In the tenth round after following Papke around the ring, Ketchell landed a left and right to jaw and sent Papke to the ropes. Referee McGuigan gave Ketchell the decision.

RIP UP WALKS AT CROOKSTON

CITIZENS HOLD MASS MEETING WITH EX-OFFICIAL LEADER

FIND THE COUNCIL IS SLOW

People in Jerome's Addition Team Out Boards in Hope of Getting Cement Laid

CROOKSTON, Minn., June 5.—Citizens of Jerome's addition to Crookston, separated from the business district by Red Lake river, held a mass meeting yesterday under the leadership of W. E. Slocum, a former alderman, and at 4 o'clock commenced to tear up over 1,000 feet of the board walk of Bridge street. The walk was totally destroyed. Residents of Jerome's addition want cement walks on Bridge street, for which contracts already have been let.

The city council has debated for a year over the position of the sidewalk grade, especially on the approach to the bridge across Red Lake river from the addition side. The correct height of grade was the issue before the council and no decision was made. Though it had been much discussed, the move of the citizens was an absolute surprise. Residents of the addition on streets affected by the walks met at 3 o'clock, and laborers were working on the walk at 4. The residents were fearful of an injunction, but the opposition was dazed and took no action.

The walks taken up were main leaders to the residence part of the addition, and the construction of new walks must start immediately, before another rain.

LOSES HOG; SUIT IS COSTLY

MILLER, S. D. June 5.—An outgrowth of the hog case near Rockham was had here in the arrest by Charles Sanger of a prominent citizen of that neighborhood on a perjury charge. The hearing was in justice court and the defendant discharged with costs taxed up to the plaintiff. The hog which Mr. Sanger lost and which was arbitrated in favor of Jacob Lyon is still in the possession of that gentleman. Mr. Sanger having lost the hog, and both suits having gone against him, entailing a cost besides the loss of the hog, of about $500, now will drop the matter.

BRAVE STEAM TO ESCAPE

SPOONER, Minn., June 5.—Two employees at the Rainy River Lumber company's saw mill at Rainy River, Ont., David Bell and Quimby met with a serious accident while they were repairing an elbow of a steam pipe leading from the boiler to the mill. The elbow broke and the men's only escape was by passing through the steam pouring out at a great pressure. Both men were terribly scalded and are in a critical condition.

RIPON WOMAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

RIPON, Wis., June 5.—Mrs. Mary S. Rolfe, aged 84, while walking along the Milwaukee road's tracks was struck by a north bound train and picked up in a dying condition. She suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and was injured internally. The train is said to have whistled a number of times, but she mistook the whistle for that of another train on another track.

contest delegates at large were given half an hour."

The rule which aroused most attention, however, was that which declared that the committee will not institute a roll call in deciding anything unless the demand is supported by at least twenty members. Phillips is acting proxy for J. W. Babcock of Wisconsin; Victor Rosewater for Chas. H. Morrill, of Nebraska;
Elmer Dover for J. W. Greer, South Dakota.

Indignation Meetings Held.
The anti-Taft politicians held indignation meetings about the Coliseum and Auditorium hotel on learning of the ruling of the committee.
They characterized its action as gag rule.

The colored contestants from the south have established headquarters on State street and have prepared for a campaign to gain recognition in the convention. They will hold a mass meeting Tuesday evening and ask Foraker to address them.

The committee decided today to continue in session through to six this evening, without a recess for luncheon. The daily meetings will begin at 10 o'clock each morning.

Task a Huge One.
Nearly every committeeman was present when the republican committee began making up temporary roll for the convention, which assemblies in the Coliseum here eleven days hence. Its task is the hardest in the history of the party. In making up the temporary roll it must pass upon 229 contestants, and as its action will establish a precedent for the committee on contested seats when appointed, the decision means much to the candidates. Because of the "campaign managers" were much in evidence prior to the assembling of the committee. The su-of false testimony at his bankruptcy hearing.

Judge Sanborn in federal court at

THOUSANDS HELD BY HEAVY FLOODS

HELENA, Mont., June 5.—A thousand passengers are being held up in this city and various other places along the lines of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads as a result of the heaviest rainfall in 23 years in this section.

Seven persons are reported drowned. Tracks are washed out or covered with landslides, and the rivers are reported to be still rising. Nine trains on the Northern Pacific which had been held up in eastern Montana since Sunday passed through here today, but all are stalled again to the north and west. The Great Northern has suffered even worse than the other roads because of land-slides near Kallispell.

ANTI-RACE BILLS TO FAIL

ALBANY, N. Y., June 5.—The positive prediction of Chairman James W. Wadsworth of the state racing commission that the Agnew-Hart anti-race track gambling bills will again be defeated next week is corroborative of those already uttered by Senator McCarran, "Big Tim" Sullivan and others, who have been here since the governor revived his fight to put the measure through.

PRINCESS ENGAGED TO TUTOR.

BERLIN, June 5.—Berlin aristocratic society is eagerly discussing the details of the reported secret engagement of the 16-year-old countess Bertha von Bismarck, granddaughter of the iron chancellor, to a young theologian of most humble origin, who was employed recently as tutor in her family.

PLAN STAMPEDE FOR ROOSEVELT

CHICAGO DELEGATES WILL DOUB-
BLE-CROSS TAFT

THAT IS PLAN IT TRANSPIRES

Though it is claimed "Teddy" Does Not Know the Scheme His Boomers Have it Fixed, Says Lawson

BOSTON, June 5.—The republican national convention will double-cross Taft and stampede for Roosevelt, says Thomas W. Lawson. The latter has been a consistent thirdtermer from the first and today publishes a statement reiterating his views. According to Lawson, the president's friends have been canvassing the country for the past three months, working up the Roosevelt sentiment that will sweep everything before it at Chicago. Moreover, the stampede will start along, the very delegates who are supposed to be pledged for Taft. He refuses to say just who these friends are.

HUNT BAND WHO SET DYNAMITE IN OPERA HOUSE

PORTLAND, Ore., June 5.—The police and detective force of this city today are hunting down a band of conspirators who placed a monstrous dynamite bomb in the vestibule of the opera house in the little town of Glendale, in southern Oregon, last night.

A defective fuse alone prevented its explosion and heavy loss of life.
The bomb consisted of a five gallon oil can packed tight with 24 sticks of dynamite. No cause is known for the attempt.

JAPAN SLAYING THE KOREANS

SEOUL, June 5.—With an average of nearly eight engagements daily, accompanied by heavy casualties, Japan is forcing the pacification of the Hermit Kingdom. In the last nine days 69 engagements have been fought, 372 Koreans were killed, over a thousand wounded, and 55 taken prisoners. The Japanese losses are not announced.

CHINAMEN IN CAR SEVEN DAYS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Sixteen Chinamen, most of them almost dead from hunger, were found in a sealed box freight car in the Southern Pacific yards this forenoon. They were immigrants, being illegally brought from Mexico. They had been shipped from the border line at El Paso, Texas, and by failure of understanding on the part of accomplishes to release them in Los Angeles, they had been brought here during nearly seven days of torture.

SHAW QUILTS HIS COUNTRY.

LONDON, June 5.—The quarrel between the shah of Persia and the government, which backed the populace seems to have been decided by his majesty quitting his dominion.
A Teheran dispatch says the shah left on a tour yesterday with a large escort, including the dismissed elique. There are various conjectures as to his motives. It is rumored that he intends to leave the country. There is great excitement.

RY. COMMISSION ACT IS SUSTAINED

COURT WON'T INTERFERE WHEN RULINGS AREN'T CONFISCATORY

TWO WORDS ARE SYNONYMOUS

"Confiscatory" and "Unreasonable" are Same in Statute; Other Decisions in Supreme Court Today

MADISON, Wis., June 5.—(Special.)—The supreme court today sustained the validity of the railroad commission act, which empowers that board to regulate and fix rates. In the opinion it says that while the court has power to review orders of the commission it will only do so when such orders are unlawful and unreasonable. It holds the words "unreasonable" and "confiscatory" in the statute are synonymous. The decision in this so-called "Soo" case takes very broad views of the work and functions of the commission.
Justice Dodge dissents.

The court held that in the action against the Milwaukee Street Car company that the state could not examine the directors of the company about their private affairs and the power of the attorney general is greatly limited.

The tenement house law involved in the Bonnet case is declared to be unconstitutional, because of some of the absurd provisions. The buildings in all sections of the state have been delayed on account of this act.

Montgomery Loses.
The decision of the lower court was confirmed in the case of Montgomery the Warren man who murdered his wife while driving home with her from town. This case attracted much attention here a few years ago as an effort was made at Sparta to lynch Montgomery. The case was from the August calendar.
This is the second time the case was before the court. Montgomery, a Warren, Monroe county man, was a farmer and was married to a school teacher. One night he went to escort her from school and in a quarrel slew her. On the first trial he was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. The supreme court granted a new trial and

KING CANNOT FIX DEAL WITH RUSSIA

EDWARD TRYING TO GET THE BEST OF GERMANY

RUSS DON'T TAKE TO IDEA

Publication of Adverse Sentiment in the Empire Is Severe Blow to His Majesty's Nerves

LONDON, June 5.—Whatever hope King Edward may have had that his coming visit to Emperor Nicholas would result in such an adjustment of the powers as to isolate Germany, has been blasted by criticism of his visit in the house of commons, and consequent arousing of apprehension as to the wisdom of such a move at this time. It was a distinct and painful surprise to the king when he read today a dispatch from St. Petersburg in which a government organ is quoted as saying:
"Any new groupage of powers or any new alliance at this time is impossible. We blame Russian public opinion for expressions of hostility toward Germany."

The king and queen leave tonight for Reval.

SWIMS 2 MILES IN RAGING SEA TO SAVE THREE LIVES

GEORGETOWN, Del., June 4.— Selby M. Harrington, 14 years old, braved death in a raging sea today, swimming two miles through storm-tossed Chincoteague bay and saving the lives of two sisters and cousin.
Young Harrington, his sisters, Florence, aged 18, and Ruth, 16, and his cousin, Clarice Harrington, went sailing in a small boat. A gust struck the little craft and overturned it, throwing the occupants into the sea.

They clung to the upturned boat,
with the waves washing over them.
Their cries for help were in vain because of the distance from shore.
Seeing no alternative, Selby started to swim for help. The lad almost perished, but finally reached land.

Several fishermen got a yawl and with Selby, who insisted upon returning, they reached the capsized craft and rescued the young people.

CROKER'S ENTRY FAILS BY FALL

LONDON, June 5.—With the Oakes stake, second only to the English Derby in importance, almost won today at Epsom Downs, Rhodora, Croker's entry, met with an accident that put her out of the running. The French Partridge was leading at the mile when she fell. Rhodora was second, coming fast, when she stumbled over the leader. The other eleven entries swerved, and escaped the mass. The accident allowed Signori-netta to repeat her victory of Wednesday, beating Courtney by three fourths of a length. Santeve was third.

Croker's disappointment is keen.

RATE ON MILK REDUCED TODAY

MADISON, Wis., June.—The railroad commission today ordered a general reduction on milk rates throughout the state and raised the rates on cream proportionately. On a five gallon can of milk going five miles the milk rate was cut one cent while the rate on cream was raised one cent. Formerly the rate on milk and cream was the same. The decision is a blow to Chicago central-izers.

Publisher of Independent Says Fund Went to Newspaper for Special Political Election

OMAHA, June 5.—Declaring all talk about Bryan being paid $20,000 by Ryan to support Parker is ridiculous, T. H. Tibbles, populist nominee for vice president in 1904, today issued a public statement regarding the money sent to Nebraska by Taggart during that campaign. Tibbles was editor of the Independent at Lincoln at the time, and said the $50,000 fund went into a special edition of the Independent for the candidacy of George W. Berger for governor. Tibbles also said the day after Bryan returned from the St.
Louis convention he wrote an editorial, the first words of which were,
"I shall support Parker." He said this editorial was run in the Commoner, which was issued from his office, the following week. "This should dispose of the ridiculous talk about Bryan being paid to support Parker," said Tibbles.

The charge was made yesterday by the New York World, including a statement that Thomas Ryan had contributed to the Nebraska campaign fund, and last night Mr. Bryan denied its truth, concluding with this challenge:

"If the World will, from either Mr. Sheehan or Mr. Bryan, give a statement or prove in any other way that Mr. Ryan gave to Mr. Sheehan, or to anyone else, or to the national committee any sum whatever, with the understanding that the sum would be used in the Nebraska campaign, I shall see that the amount is returned to Mr. Ryan."

"As to the charges that my support of Judge Parker was purchased I need only say that I announced my support of Judge Parker immediately after the St. Louis convention."

WEARS THE SAME OLD SMILE

VIGOROUS AND FRESH AFTER LONG, DUSTY JOURNEY

PRE-CAMPAIGN QUIET-ABSENT

It Was Broken This Time—Many Important Measures Were Passed—His Own Work

Smiling the same old smile, and showing no sign of fatigue after his long and dusty journey home from Washington following the strenuous days in which the session of the Sixtieth congress culminated, Hon. John J. Esch appeared at his desk today in the office of Winter & Esch, Mc-Millan building, and picked up the tag-ends of private business as handily as though he had left them but last night to retire to his home for dinner and a night's repose. The congressman left Washington Tuesday evening, arriving in this city via the St. Paul at 5:05 last evening.
Missed Exciting Time
Mr. Esch spent yesterday in Chicago, dropping around to the then unopened republican headquarters, the coliseum and other places of interest in the coming national convention. When told that today the national committee is in the throes of one of the most spectacular and bitter fights in its history, the representative laughingly regretted congress had not adjourned one day later, as to have precipitated him in Chicago in the midst of the fight. The plans were gathering, and there were things in the air yesterday, but that was the calm before the storm.

Can Correct Aldrich Bill
Of course the mooted things in national politics formed the basis of first inquiries by the newspaper men.
To the question, "Is it true that the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency law is ineffectual by reason of its failure to declare clearing house certificates illegal?" he replied:
"I have read the dispatches, and perhaps the point raised might be significant were it not for this: We will be in session again in six months, and such defects as possibly have been made in legislation can be remedied before harm is done. This also applies to the child labor law passed for the District of Columbia, which I have read since leaving Washington, neglected to make provision for funds for its enforcement."

Despite the fact that the sixtieth congress has been characterized as a
"do nothing" affair, Congressman Esch states that as a matter of fact more legislation of importance was enacted than is generally understood.
"Mind-boggling," Explained

"That an active session should be regarded as indolent may seem strange, but it is easily explained," said Mr. Esch. "It must be remembered that there were pressed upon this session an unprecedented number of measures of sweeping importance, the wisdom of which not only justified but demanded deep study and earnest deliberation, and it is comparison of what was actually done with what was demanded from various sources rather than comparison with the volume of work done in former sessions, that makes the record look small. It was in fact a record of wide accomplishment, especially for a pre-campaign session, because history shows the dominant party in congress has always been reluctant to become responsible for new and untried laws at a period when failure of any of them would burden the party with blame without giving it a chance to show its good faith by repeal or amendment."

Was a Busy Session
"Bills were passed at this last session that would have made any other session noteworthy, for instance, the employer's liability bill. That alone would have made any other session memorable. It is a bill to make the railroads responsible for accidents befalling their employes whether it is due to negligence or not. The government liability bill is another that would have made another session noteworthy. It is a bill that in case any of the men engaged in the government work are disabled while in the employ of the government, as in working on the Panama canal, in the river work,

And now comes another June Bride—many of them—all descendants of Mother Eve—"BUT 20TH CENTURY BRIDES WHO USE SENSIBLE FURNITURE." Besides many useful—some ornamental, that are NOT USEFUL—the June Bride receives many presents. Can there be a more useful—more sensible present to give than some piece of furniture to start the "Nest?" After it's all over—and the presents are all received, one of your greatest pleasures is still to come—that is—the selection of the rest of the furnishings for the new home you are making. We are truly "Builders of Happy Homes," and pride ourselves on the showing of Furniture—Rugs, Draperies, etc., we are making this season. We want to talk this "Home Furnishing proposition" over with you, and will furnish the services of an EXPERIENCED salesman, to show you around, and figure out for you just what the cost will be.

Will You Permit Me to Ask You a Few Questions?

Have you made use of your homestead right?
Have you ever thought of how easy it is to become the owner of 160 acres of choice agricultural land?
Do you know the value of 160 acres of such land?
Did you imagine that it is worth today no less than $2,400.00?
Do you know that it is worth much more than that in many cases?
Are you aware that the longer you wait the farther away from a railroad or a town you will have to go?
Are you going to wait until the best of them are gone?
Did it occur to you that thousands of men have made their start in life that way?
Haven't some of your own acquaintances become wealthy in just that way?
Did anyone ever tell you that you can pay for a quarter section of land with the proceeds of only one crop if you bought it at from $12.50 to $15.00 per acre?
Do you want to be considered a clam and wait until it is everlastingly too late?
Did you ever hear of one acre of land making two?
Do you know that the population of the United States doubles every twenty years?
Did you ever consult history and find that the immigration to the United States is about a million a year?
Can you put two and two together? Can you make $2,000.00 clear money any easier?
Will you join us on our next excursion on June 16th to Montana where these lands are and see for yourself what a rush there is for land?
Are you interested? If so come to my office and let's talk it over.

Tennessee was in the box for the Senators yesterday afternoon and La Crosse won the game by the score of 4 to 2. The result was a sort of a surprise as Tennessee was claimed as invincible. Tennessee, barring the sixth inning, pitched a good game. He showed that he could deliver the goods in the seventh inning when with the bases full and no outs, he steadied down and struck out two men while the third went out on an easy grounder to first. Bond and Harmes were the only Colts who were able to face the mighty Senator and get let down without a strike out. He pitched wonderful ball at times but again he would go up in the air and allow hits, bases on balls and real runs.

Jones for La Crosse pitched a good game and was given perfect support until the seventh inning. Whitmore, who was first at bat, pounded out a three-bagger, but Armstrong, the next man, went out on an easy grounder. Then Cook appeared at bat and lifted an easy one into left field. Hastings made a pretty run for the ball and got it but forgot to hold on and Whitmore scored. Cook scored later in the inning and had it not been for the dropping of his fly by Hastings, Jones would have had an easy shutout.

Anyway La Crosse won, making it three straight from Cassibotne and his players, and all the fans are satisfied. A feature of the game was the hitting of Harmes. La Crosse's new catcher. He got three hits at four times at bat. In his first appearance before Tennessee he did not locate the ball, and only pounded out a little grounder in the hands of the shortstop. In the next three times at bat he picked out soft spots in the field and drove the ball in that direction each time, and his hitting practically won the game. Hastings located the ball once and when he did he sent it far enough into the field to enable him to skirt to the third sack and score Bond, who was at first. Following the three-bagger of Hastings, Harmes came up with a single and scored Hastings. The Senators and Colts left this morning for Madison, where they will play a series of three games on the Senators' grounds and the fans are confident that they will return Monday with at least two more games to La Crosse's credit. La Crosse now has a substantial lead and with the average luck, will remain in that condition for some time to come. La Crosse will return Monday and play three games with Rockford.

In one of the greatest games played so far this season, the Chicago Cubs yesterday played a tie game with Boston at the latter's game being called at the seventeenth inning on account of rain. Lindaman was in the box for the Cubs and Pfeister for the Red Sox. Both pitchers were in rare form while Lindaman had a shade better of the argument allowing hits in the seventh inning and made the only run for the Cubs by hitting Pfeister in the head and making out a home run. Best scored for Boston.

St. Louis defeated New York yesterday by the score of 7 to 5. The game was a close one, but at bat, but scored two runs. The Cardinals had a shade better of the argument allowing hits in the seventh inning and made the only run for the Cubs by hitting Pfeister in the head and making out a home run. Best scored for Boston.

SPOTLIGHTS

"The Little Christian"

The Van Dyke & Eaton company will put on tonight "The Little Christian," a "pastoral" play in five acts and one that is sure to please both "old and young."

Mr. Koch will appear as Father "Strong" and Miss Eaton as "Margie," which affords her splendid opportunity for beautiful costuming. This same bill will be presented on Saturday afternoon and night.

Ladies Only Saturday

Those who have seen the performance of "The Little Christian" will be appearing as a special feature with the Van Dyke & Eaton company, pronounced the work done by her as truly marvelous. Many questions are written and signed by various persons in the audience and the slips of paper retained by the writers.

Miss May, seated on a small platform over the footlights, blindfolded, reads with startling rapidity the questions, giving the correct names of the writers, in addition to a correct and satisfactory answer to many of the questions asked.

What is most remarkable is that she can repeat the questions even from memory, as well as the names of the askers. As a test of memory, aside from any legendary cleverness manifested, Miss May's work is really wonderful, and well worth seeing. To repeat, so many questions a few minutes after they have been written by people in all parts of the theater, hundreds of questions and names is a remarkable performance of itself. It certainly calls for a wonderful memory.

After the regular performance of "The Little Christian" on Saturday afternoon, Miss May will appear before "ladies only." All then will be excused from the theater and Miss May will answer questions and demonstrate her power.

Any question of a personal nature, regarding health, marriage, divorce, etc., may be asked free. The theater will certainly be packed to overflowing as no additional charge is made.

CLASS A—PLAY AND ATTENDANCE

When the baseball season opened the attendance at La Crosse was so liberal as to lend encouragement to the management in its efforts to make receipts here reach the necessary $25,000 during the year. But, if the Madison series just closed is an indication, the hope has gone aglimmering. We regret to say that in this series with the Senators the largest day's attendance was but 310, the average being about 200. This in spite of the fact that the home team heads the list and the visitors were a fast team in the first division, whose manager had boasted he would take two out of three of the contests.

The La Crosse team deserves better of the fans than to have the home attendance the laughing stock of the league. There is not another team in all, including the tallenders, that has drawn as small crowds as La Crosse, on the average, and in point of population La Crosse is the second city on the circuit. It is also a fact that La Crosse is the only team which has no Class A players.

Each team, excepting La Crosse, has one or more, and Wausau has four. These managers bought their teams, paying high prices for men held inactively in faster company; Manager Hawley picked his team from a bunch of players none of whom, so far as their records show, are eligible to faster company, and some of whom had failed in this class. Hawley saw the player inside, and went at it to develop it. We predict he will finish the season with the fastest bunch in the league. He is within the salary list, and it takes no mathematics to calculate how many of the other teams are.

In three days the leaders return home for three games with Rockford. It will be fast baseball. Recently Judge Brindley, after returning from Chicago, where he saw some major league games, said to Mr. Elliott that the team here is playing Class A ball, and that in fair weather he felt obliged to adjourn court when there were games in the city. The latter half of that was a joke, of course, but the first half is no joke, and The Tribune hopes that there will be a large attendance when the boys return to their own diamond. Class A ball deserves Class A attendance.

THE CURRENCY BILL

(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

The currency bill which has emerged at the last moment from the seemingly helpless confusion of the long session is so much better than was earlier hoped for that it may well be a subject of general congratulation.

A WISE PROVISION

(Houston, Texas, Potts.)

In some of the northern public schools the boys are taught needlework. Which is a very nice provision. Modern marriage does not render it unnecessary for a man to know how to sew on his buttons and patch his pants.

"You have been staying with James lately, haven't you, John?"

"Yes."

"They say his new wife has an awful temper. How did she strike you?"

"With anything that came handy."

FASHION HINTS

By MAY MANTON

6992 Blouse with Over Waist,
32 to 40 bust.

The over waist in all its variations continues a first favorite of fashion but this one can be made available for treatment of so many sorts that it is shown with the over waist and sleeves of one material, the chemise portion being of net, but the sleeves could be made to match the chemise, so giving more of the guimpe effect if desired. In either case there is the low narrow opening at the neck, which is one of the latest and prettiest form of the chemise and the trimming is arranged on entirely distinctive and novel lines while there is a fancy belt that finishes the lower edge. Almost all of the seasonable materials are appropriate for the design, and it is equally appropriate for the gown and for the odd waist. It is a season of lovely cotton fabrics and many of these would make up charmingly with the chemise and the sleeves either of lace or of the washable tulle that is such a pronounced favorite for gimpes just now. In addition to all of these almost any pretty and seasonable silk and wool fabric could be utilized.

The blouse is a simple plain one, faced to form the chemise and the moderately full sleeves with their prettily pointed cuffs are inserted in its armholes. The neck is finished with one of the new pointed collars. The lower edge is gathered and joined to a basque portion, which holds it firmly in place. The over waist is entirely separate and is gathered at the shoulders and again at the waist line where it is joined to the foundation belt, and over the foundation the fancy one is arranged.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 3 1-2 yards 21 or 2 1-4 yards 32 or 1 5-8 yards 44 inches wide, 6 yards of banding for the over waist and sleeves 1 1-2 yards 36 inches wide for the body portion of the blouse, 3-4 yard 18 inches wide for the chemise.

The pattern 5992 is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measure and will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents. (If in haste send an additional two-cent stamp for letter postage which insures more prompt delivery.)

DOROTHY WALSH

TO BE NURSE

CHICAGO, June 4.—Miss Dorothy Walsh, daughter of James Walsh, president of the Southern Indiana railroad, has given up the pleasures of society to dedicate her life to the care of the sick and injured. In this she is following the example of her two older sisters, who are graduate nurses.

The three girls are unusually beautiful, and as one after the other has determined to adopt the profession of nursing they have met with determined opposition from society friends.

Miss Adelaide Walsh was educated at the Sacred Heart academy, the select north side school, where were once pupils Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Mather Smith, and Mrs. Marshall Field, Jr. The school has recently been moved to Lake Forest.

Graduation exercises of the Mercy hospital training school are to be held at the Auditorium Thursday night. The class with which Miss Walsh graduates numbers thirty.

CHAPTER XLVII.

Contains More Mystery.

The old-fashioned, ill-cut gown of black stuff and the rather unbecoming appearance of being older than she really was. A spotted veil concealed her features, but as she entered the room she raised it quickly.

The face revealed was the soft, sweet countenance of Maud Petrovitch.

Charlie gripped his companion's arm and gave vent to an exclamation of amazement as he stood peering forth open-mouthed.

As the girl entered the old man turned fiercely upon her and uttered some inquiry. What it was the watchers could not distinguish, for thick plate glass stood between the conservatory and the library. Yet whatever he said or however caustic and bitter his manner, the young girl stood defiant.

Her chin was raised, her eyes flashed upon him, and her gloved hand was outstretched in a gesture of calm denunciation as she replied with some words that caused the old fellow to draw back in surprise and confusion.

The door had closed, for Levi had left the pair together. Max wondered whether the old servant would now come and search the back premises prior to locking up. If so, they might easily be discovered. These fall-soled boots of old Levi struck fear into their hearts. Charlie was, however, too occupied in watching the old man and the girl at that moment to think of any danger of detection.

His well-beloved stood pale, beautiful, and yet defiant before the man who a moment before had shaken his fist and clenched his teeth on hearing of her demand to see him. The words she had uttered had caused an instant change in his manner. His sudden anger had been succeeded by fear. Whatever she had said was evidently straight to the point.

For a moment he regarded her in silence, then over his grey face came a crafty smile as with mock courtesy he offered her a chair, still remaining standing himself.

She leaned her elbow on the arm of the chair and, bending toward him was speaking again, uttering slow, decisive words, each of which seemed to bite into his very soul. His countenance again changed; from mock humor it became hard, drawn, almost haggard.

Charlie, who knew the old man in every mood, had never witnessed such an expression upon his face. Beneath it all, however, he detected a look of unrelenting, almost fiendish revenge. He lunged to rush forward and grasp his loved one in his arms, but Max, seeing his agitation, laid his hand firmly upon his shoulder.

"Let us watch in patience, Charlie," he urged. "We may learn something interesting."

Maud had altered but little since that afternoon when, in the haze of the Red London sunset, Charlie had last walked with her in Never Square. She was, perhaps, a trifle pinched in the cheeks, but the sweet dimples were still there, and the little wisp of hair still strayed across her white brow. Her gown, however, seemed shabby and ill-fitting. Perhaps she had borrowed it in order to come there in garments by which she would not be recognized. For a young girl to make a visit at that late hour was, to say the least, somewhat unusual.

Both men standing in the shadow behind the thick glass longed to hear what the pair were saying. It was tantalizing to be so near the disclosure of a secret—indeed, to have it enacted before one's eyes—and yet be debarred from learning the truth.

Max examined the door, hoping to open it ever so slightly, but to his chagrin he found it locked and bolted. Old Levi had already prepared to retire before they had made their surreptitious entrance there.

That he had at last found Maud again was to both a source of immense gratification. At last the truth of the doctor's strange disappearance would now be known. But what connection could old Statham have with the affair?

Charlie recollected what Sir Charles Harrison had told him in Belgrade—that the bomb outrage by which a poor innocent child had lost her life had been planned by one of his friends.

He had suspected Max. But in the light of Maud's secret visit to Statham, he now held the last-named in distinct suspicion. Was it part of the millionaire's cunning policy in Serbia to rid the country of its greatest statesman?

No. That was impossible. The Doctor and Statham had been friends. When Petrovitch was in power they had worked hand-in-glove, with the result that the millionaire had lent money to the Serbian Government upon very second-class security. Unrest in Serbia, Charlie was well aware, meant loss to Statham Brothers of perhaps a million sterling. It was therefore, to the interest of the firm that the present Government should remain in power, and that the country should be allowed to develop and progress peacefully.

He tried to put behind him that increasing suspicion that old Sam was the "friend" to whom the diplomat had so mysteriously referred.

And yet as he watched every movement, every gesture of the pair within that long room where the lights were so artistically shaded—the room wherein deals involving the loss or gain of hundreds of thousands of pounds were decided—he saw that the girl remained still defiant, and that the man stood vanquished by her slow, deliberate accusation.

Old Sam's bony fingers were twitching—a sign of suppressed wrath which his secretary knew well. He held his thin lower lip between his yellow teeth, and standing with his back to the fire-place, he now and then cast a supercilious smile upon the pretty girl who had come there in defiance of the conveniences—in defiance, evidently, of his own imperious commands.

Samuel Statham at that moment was not the hard-faced old benefactor who, haunted the seats in the park and gave so much money anonymously to the deserving among the "submerged tenth." He was a man fighting for his honour, his reputation, his gold—nay, his very life. He was a man whose keen wit was now pitted against that of a clear, level-headed girl—one who had right and justice on her side.

Was it possible, Charlie thought, that his well-beloved knew the old man's secret—that secret which, before he would face his exposure, he would prefer the grave itself?

He watched Maud and noted how balanced was her beautiful countenance, and yet how calm and how determined she was. When the old man spoke she listened with attention, but her replies, brief and pointed, were always made with a gesture and expression of triumph, as of one who knew the naked and astounding truth.

"What can it all mean?" whispered Max. "Why is she here? How tantalizing is it that we cannot catch

THE PAUPER

OF PARK LANE

By William Le Queux

A full view of the library could be obtained from where they stood in the darkness. In the room two of the big armchairs had been pulled up, with a small coffee table between them. On one side was old Sam, lazily smoking one of his big cigars, while on the other was Levi, lying back, his legs stretched out, smoking with perfect equanimity and equally with his master. Upon the table was a decanter of whisky and two glasses, and, judging from the amused countenance of both men, Sam had been relating to Levi something which struck the other as humorous.

It was curious, to say the least, that Levi, the humble, even cringing, servant should place himself upon an equality with his master. That he was devoted to old Sam, Charlie knew well, but this friendship he had never suspected. There was a hidden reason for it all, without a doubt.

The two intruders watched with bated breath, neither daring to make a sound.

They saw Levi, his cigar stuck in the side of his mouth, lean back and thrust his hands deep into his trousers pockets, uttering some words which they could not catch. His manner had changed, and so had Sam's. From gay the pair had suddenly grown grave. Upon the millionaire's brow was a dark shadow, such as Charlie, who knew him intimately in all his moods, had seldom seen there.

Levi was speaking quickly, his attitude changed, as though giving serious advice, to which his master listened with knit brows and deep attention. Then, with a suddenness that caused the two watchers to start, the electric bell at the hall-door sounded.

In an instant Levi tossed his cigar into the fire, whipped off his glass from the table, and in a single instant became the grave family servant again, as with a quick gesture of his hand he left the room to answer the summons at the door.

In a few moments he returned, closing the door quickly after him, so that whoever was in the hall could not overhear what was said.

Approaching his master he made some announcement in a whisper, whereat the millionaire clenched his fist, and struck violently in the air. Levi urged calmness; that was evident from his manner.

Then Sam, with a resigned air, shrugged his shoulders, paced the room in quick agitation, and turned upon his servant with his eyes flashing with anger.

Again Levi placed his thin hand on the old man's arm, which calmed him into almost instant submission. Then the grave-faced old servant went out, and an instant later ushered in a woman, all in black—a woman who, in an instant, both Max and Charlie recognized.

They both stood watching, breathless—rooted to the spot.

The mystery, as they afterwards discovered, was even greater than they had ever anticipated.

It was beyond human credence.

With the coming national conventions the eyes of the United States will be centered upon the individuals who are to present the names of the various presidential aspirants to the convention. It is interesting to note a few of the men who have made themselves famous through this channel of oratory. Historically the first national convention was held in 1831. Before that time nominations were in the hands of a few men, but that method was unpopular. In that year, however, the Whigs or National Republicans nominated Clay in open convention and the democrats adopted the same system.

It is not strange that the early conventions attracted little or no attention nationally, for the people felt that they had no direct hand in the election of the president. There was usually one man pre-eminently fitted for the place and his election was merely a matter of form. Even in the Lincoln convention in 1860, little oratory was indulged in and up to the time of Robert G. Ingersoll's great speech nominating James G. Blaine we find little or no attempt at carefully prepared nominating speeches. At the Cincinnati convention the tide ran strong for Blaine when Colonel Ingersoll, who was then little known outside his native state of Illinois, made his classic nominating speech he won for himself well deserved laurels. Perhaps no other nominating speech has stood the test of time like this wonderful, concise speech. It failed to make Blaine republican candidate for again a "dark horse," in the person of Rufus B. Hayes, who had no political enemies, carried off the prize and became president. In 1890 the wonderful speech of James A. Garfield of Ohio, in behalf of John Sherman, at the republican convention, led to his own nomination for the presidency, as also did the "cross of gold" speech of William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska, at the democratic convention in 1896. These are two instances in which nominating speeches have won the nomination for the man making the speech. In 1880 Roscoe Conklin of New York, attracted national attention by his famous speech nominating Grant for a third term. It is generally conceded, however, that while the speech

Over the Situation on North Side
and Leave for Dubuque

The work of changing the Milwaukee railroad yards on the north side in order to reduce the danger at the Mill street crossing will not be done in the near future, according to General Manager W. J. Underwood, who looked over the situation yesterday. Mr. Underwood said that he was here on an inspection tour and as the matter had been taken up he looked over the proposition.

He said he was not unfavorable to the plan of moving the yards, but that the company would be unable to go to the great expense at present. When business picked up and the future warranted such a large expenditure the company will do the work, he declared.

It is a well known fact among people who are informed on the subject, he said, that the railroads are doing little work anywhere at present on account of the presidential election so it is not unreasonable to assume that the work will be commenced in the near future.

Mr. Underwood and Assistant General Manager Choney left in their car for Dubuque yesterday afternoon.

Julia Mickelstad and Arthur Gilbertson were united in marriage last evening at 8 o'clock at the Charles Street Norwegian Lutheran church, Rev. Vik performing the ceremony.

After the ceremony a large reception was given at the residence of the bride on George street. The bride was dressed in white Persian lawn with a bridal wreath and veil. She carried a large cluster of bridal roses. The bridesmaids were dressed in white and carried carnations.

The young couple will be at home at 1506 Kang street, where they will start housekeeping.

CAPT. FUGINA TO

Excursionists on Capt. Fugina's excursion boat Rutledge this summer will have the advantage of the big double-decked pleasure barge "Chippewa" in connection. This is the largest and handsomest barge on the upper river and is 100 feet long and 20 feet wide. It was used by Capt. Fugina with the Columbia and Fountain City excursion steamers and the steamer Rutledge is now at Stillwater to bring the barge down.

The Rutledge will run out of La Crosse to Winona and Fountain City with the excursion of the Yeomen on Sunday, and Thursday of next week will run one of their popular family excursions to Winona and Fountain City.

The Polish National Aid society is making preparations for a big picnic to be held at the Shooting Park in July. John Blajeska has been chosen chairman of the committee on arrangements.

was remarkable it lost for Grant the nomination, for it was so sarcastic and vitriolic that it injured Grant's case among the lukewarm friends who might have been turned to his side by a more diplomatic speech. Conklin's manner was arrogant and insolent to a degree. He was fond of the spectacular and with his 306 Grant delegates back of him, seemed to think he could bully the convention into giving him the 70 additional votes needed for a clear majority. Nothing like Conklin's conduct has ever been seen at any national convention before or since.

Frank S. Black of New York, who nominated Roosevelt in 1904, carried the convention with him and made himself an acknowledged leader through this speech. Other great nominating speeches have been made by Bourke Cockran of New York; Leon Abbot of New Jersey, who nominated Cleveland in 1892; Chauncey M. Depew of New York, whose speech for McKinley was the most notable oration of the republican convention of 1900; and James E. Foraker of Ohio, who nominated McKinley in 1896 and 1900.

REV. SANDERS GIVES TALK

Annual Sermon Will Be Delivered
by La Crosse Man—Most Successful Convention Closed

The La Crosse Valley Association of Baptists closed a most successful session at the Tabernacle Baptist church last evening. The convention was considered to be the most successful one held for several years.

Sparta will get the next convention of the association. At a business meeting George Marvin, Jr., was selected as a representative of the Wisconsin Baptist association. Rev. Sanders was also selected to give the annual address at Sparta next year.

The meeting yesterday was devoted to a number of addresses and musical selections. Rev. Fayus spoke very interestingly on "Modern Defects." Mrs. Ida Tilson addressed the audience on an interesting subject entitled "The Prayer Service of the Church." Other speakers were Rev. Smith of Warrens, Rev. Henry of Tomah, and Rev. Edmunds of Beaver Dam.

The evening was taken up by two addresses. Rev. P. Walker Pugh of Sparta gave an address called "The Spot of Blood" which was thoroughly appreciated by the audience. Rev. R. S. Gordon of Milwaukee held the attention of the congregation with his highly interesting address called "Clouds and Rainbows." Mr. Gordon is an excellent speaker and every one present enjoyed his talk immensely. After this talk the benediction was given and the meeting closed until the session held at Sparta next year.

Three and one quarter million miles is the total distance traveled by 160 members of the Rambler club, an automobile club composed of owners who have driven a Rambler car 15,000 miles or over.

These figures were compiled by an enthusiastic member of the club just prior to the election of four new members whose mileage bring the total up close to three and one-half million.

Six owners, who are members of the club have driven Rambler cars over 45,000 miles.

The membership of this unique club closes for the year on July 15. Every member has furnished a sworn statement that his mileage figures are authentic before he can be eligible to membership.

In Asparagus Time

Senator Beveridge, at a dinner in Indianapolis, said during the course of asparagus:

"This asparagus is superb. Its flavor helps us to pardon Fontenelle."

"Fontenelle?" murmured a young lady in a puzzled voice.

"Yes, Fontenelle," said the well read senator. "Don't you know the story? Listen, then."

"Fontenelle lived to be 100. He attributed his longevity to asparagus. As the consumptives go in for milk and eggs, he went in for asparagus—thrice daily—as long as the season lasted."

"Archbishop Dubois had almost an equal love for the pale, sweet sticks. He liked them with a dressing of drawn butter, but Fontenelle preferred vinegar and oil."

"Mme. de Tencin once invited these two asparagus lovers to dinner. Half the asparagus course was prepared with oil and vinegar, the other half with drawn butter, and on Fontenelle's arrival the hostess explained this arrangement to him."

"But just as the dinner hour arrived there came a palid messenger from the Archbishop's house. The good Archbishop Dubois was dead."

"Dead?" cried Fontenelle.

"Dead," the messenger dolefully repeated.

"Really dead?" said Mme. de Tencin.

"Alas, yes, madame; dead irrevocably," answered the messenger.

"Then he won't be here to dinner?" murmured Fontenelle.

"Naturally not," the messenger agreed.

"Fontenelle leaped hastily to his feet. He ran to the door, and opened it. Then he shouted across the hall to the white-capped cook in the kitchen:

"Batiste, all the asparagus with oil and vinegar!"—New York Times.

Our Absolutely Free! A $2.00 Hat With Every Suit at $12.50 or Over

As we have told you before, we make this offer solely to introduce The Continental Special, our New $2.00 Felt Hat, and many wise buyers have already taken advantage of this liberal and most sensational offer ever attempted by any clothing store in the history of La Crosse. This is an ABSOLUTE BONA FIDE offer that may never repeat itself again. With this offer and our long standing reputation for honest dealing before you, there should not be a moment's hesitation where to buy.

We know (and you will admit when you'll see them) that other stores ask at least $3.00 more for identical qualities. This is not merely a presumption on our part, but the universal opinion judges of values, and made manifest by our buying for seven large successful stores. The output of one of the Continental Stores is larger than that of any other two La Crosse clothing stores combined. With these plain facts you can readily see why we can offer "high-class" Suits at the above price. Newest styles, exclusive patterns expert workmanship embodying grace and "distinctiveness." But, we wish to show you. Come, and insist upon being shown.

Are the products of America's foremost designers and tailors. Suits when once tried on will deprive you of the extravagant "Going to the tailor" habit. They are faultless in fit and hand-tailored by men who hold their position because of their talent. And then, too, you have distinctive exclusive patterns to choose from.

Whether you see the conservative or the most ultra-fashioned models we have an assortment here that will more than meet your most exacting requirements.

IS A PHOTOGRAPH FORGERY SUBJECT

QUESTION RAISED BY ALLEGED RETOUCHING OF ALLISON

Cummins Men Re-sented Charge About Old Man's Pretense and Row Was Warm

Washington Bureau of The La Crosse Tribune WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4. (By J. C. Welliver.)

Is it forgery to retouch a photograph so as to make the subject look a few years older than he really ought to look?

That was one of the issues in the senatorial campaign which has been finished out in Iowa. Governor Cummins is running for the republican nomination against Senator Allison, and reports of late have indicated that he was likely to carry away the plums. His people claim their control of the statewide primary by 25,000 while the Allison claim mis about 12,000. Each side laughs at the claims of the other.

Recently there appeared in circulation in Iowa a photograph of Senator Allison, which represented him as a very old and broken man. It was used as the basis of an argument that he is too old to remain longer in the senate.

The Allison people, after some inquiries and consideration, announced that the photograph was a forgery; that is, that it was from a sadly retouched negative which once represented Senator Allison. It was claimed that the finishing touches were the ones which made the veteran senator look so old; and so they engaged busily in denouncing the whole performance as an outrage of the worst character.

On the part of the Cummins people it was insisted that the photograph not only is genuine, but it was taken about a year ago, when the senator was younger than he is now. The controversy as to the genuineness of the picture became so hot that they all forgot about the Bland-Allison act, the crime of '75, the Sherman silver purchase provision, the tariff and all the other features of Senator Allison's record, and devoted themselves in the main to the consideration of that photograph.

Under all these conditions it would be not only unwise and impolitic but an unnecessary parade of indifference for the imperial government not to have a respectable squadron in these waters to meet and greet the Americans.

WORKS ALL DAY

And Studies at Night on Grape-Nuts Food.

Some of the world's great men have worked during the day and studied evenings to fit themselves for greater things. But it requires a good constitution generally to do this.

"Three years ago I had a severe attack of stomach trouble which left me unable to eat anything but bread and water.

"The nervous strain at my office from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. and improper food caused my health to fall rapidly. Cereals and so-called 'Foods' were tried without benefit until I saw Grape-Nuts mentioned in the paper.

"In hopeless desperation I tried this food and at once gained strength, flesh and appetite. I am now able to work all day at the office and study at night, without the nervous exhaustion that was usual before I tried Grape-Nuts.

"It leaves me strengthened, refreshed, satisfied; nerves quieted and toned up, brain-waste restored, and intellect brightened. I would have been a living skeleton, or more likely a dead one by this time, if it had not been for Grape-Nuts." "There's a Reason."

YOU'RE A SOLDIER, DID YOU KNOW IT?

NEW LAW MAKES ALL MALES 18 TO 45 MILITIAMEN

Measure Hurried Through Late in Session Appropriates $2,000,000 Annually—Efficiency Menaced

Washington Bureau of The La Crosse Tribune. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5. (By J. C. Welliver.)

That congress at a single stroke in the closing days of the session added a force of 150,000 men to the army of the United States is a fact that has as yet become scarcely appreciated.

The bill to increase the efficiency of the militia, which was pushed through congress and signed by the president, is in many respects the most important piece of military legislation for many years. It went through congress with but scant notice in view of its importance. Yet under its operation the power of the president to conduct a war on short notice and to have at his command a vast body of trained men, far exceeds any power in these respects ever before possessed by the chief executive in this country in time of peace. The authority of the president over the organized militia or national guard is greatly increased and, moreover, the legislation undoubtedly means that the national guard of the different states is to be brought to a high standard of military perfection and that without much delay.

Regular Army and Guard Wanted. By this bill, the national guard has been converted into an efficient and thoroughly-equipped reserve for the regular army and the relations between the guard and the regular army force have been made much closer.

So far reaching is the bill, that John Sharp Williams, the democratic leader of the house, declared on the floor that the bill gave the president the right to carry on war without a declaration of war by congress and also to send the militia into foreign countries. The bill had strong opposition, too, from such leading republicans as Representative Tawney, chairman of the appropriations committee, and Representative Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee. Mr. Tawney took the position the bill would add 150,000 men to the standing army and he opposed it because he declared it gave too much authority to the president over the militia of the different states. Nevertheless, in spite of strong opposition, the bill got through the house and in the senate had easy sailing. It was promptly signed by the president.

Social Features in Background. Whatever may be the opinions, however, about the need for the legislation or about the wisdom of enacting it, there is no dispute that the result of it is going to be to make the national guard of the country a real soldiery. In recent years, since the enactment of the Dick law, there has been a marked improvement in the national guard. Many organizations exist that are capable of taking the field tomorrow and giving a good account of themselves. On the other hand, there is too much of a disposition in some of the guard organizations to exist chiefly for pink tea purposes and ball room functions. If the new law is lived up to, it is safe to predict that in a few years the guard will have ceased to be a very desirable body for anyone to belong to for social reasons or for any other reasons but those of love of the military.

The original Dick law provided that the militia could be called out by the president for nine months. The new law allows it to be called out for the term of enlistment. The national guard is referred to in the bill as the "organized militia" and when called into service it is to be preferred over any other volunteer force that may be raised. The president can call out the organized militia for service within or without the United States. The militia is to consist of every able-bodied male citizen of the different states and territories and every able-bodied male who has declared his intention to become a citizen, more than 18 and less than 45 years of age. It is to be divided into two classes, the national guard or organized militia and the remaining militia or reserve militia.

Discipline Same as in Army.

It is provided that on and after January 1, 1910, the discipline of the organized militia or national guard shall be the same as that of the regular army. It is the purpose of the war department to insist on adherence to this provision. As soon as may be, the guard is to be brought up to regular army standard in respect to discipline and equipment and it will be the plan to put every organization of the guard in readiness for prompt field service. Through regular annual maneuvers, if the war department can have its way, the members of the national guard will get good opportunities for training in conjunction with regular troops.

An Efficient Army.

The bill as enacted leaves little loophole for men or officers of the national guard to escape service when called out by the president. It is provided that every officer and enlisted man who shall be called forth shall be mustered for service without further enlistment and without further medical examination prior to muster except for those states and territories that have not adopted the standard of medical examination prescribed for the regular army. Officers or men who refuse or neglect to present themselves for such muster are subject to trial and punishment as a court-martial composed of militia officers may direct. The measure carries an annual appropriation of $2,000,000.

ANTI-SEMITICS IN DREYFUS ASSAULT

POLICE BELIEVE GREGORI HIRED ASSASSIN

HIS HOME BEING SEARCHED

Papers Come Out With Bold Statements Saying They Preferred Execution Squad to Do Job

PARIS, June 5.—Firm in the belief that Louis Anthelme Gregori, who attempted to assassinate Major Dreyfus in the Pantheon yesterday, was acting as an agent of the Anti-Semitic organization, the police, today made a thorough search of his Paris apartments and country villa at Parmain in the hope of finding compromising papers. No word would be given out as to whether the search was successful, but the fact that the police are continuing their activity leads to the belief that they have discovered damaging evidence.

Any attempt to reopen the old Dreyfus issue at the Gregori trial will be frustrated, it is believed, on the ground that such matter is wholly extraneous. The fury of the nationalist papers is clearly evident. "L'Action Francaise" prints a statement by Charles Maurras which the police are investigating. Maurras says that Wednesday night a "resolute patriot" visited M. Daudet, Lieut. Botsfleury and himself, and offered to kill Dreyfus, but the proposal was rejected.

The editorial ends with "What we ask for Dreyfus isn't six balls from a revolver, but twelve bullets of an execution squad."

Abolition of Irons a Law.

The bill drawn up by Mr. Esch abolishing the use of irons in the navy as a means of punishment is one of the important things done at this session. Mr. Esch was first acquainted with the conditions in the matter existing in the navy by Mrs. Oberg of this city. After hearing her story he immediately drew up the bill and it is now a law.

"That is really of more importance," said Mr. Esch, "than the majority of the people realize. It affects 70,000 men, the personnel of the navy.

"It was an exceptionally hard one to get through for the reason that it was one of the old rules of the navy and traditional matters in the army and the navy are the hardest kind to get away from. If you remember it took a long time to abolish flogging at the mast. That was what might be termed a time honored custom in the navy."

Mr. Esch said that just when operations will be started at Sparta on the rifle and artillery range, cannot be positively stated, although it may be begun in July. The appropriation of $150,000 for that purpose will be available at that time. There will not be much work done there in the way of building or making improvements, as Mr. Esch understands that the real purpose is to secure a spot presenting all the conditions of vantage, ground and obstruction encountered in the actual battlefield.

MARGUERITE BERG PRETTIEST BABY

SO DECIDE JUDGES AT THE PURE FOOD SHOW

COMPETITION IS VERY KEEN

Large Number of Infants Entered in Contest; Prof. Nielsen Makes Address

After long deliberation between the judges it was decided at the baby show at the Pure Food exhibition yesterday afternoon, that little Marguerite Berg, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Berg, 1539 Avon street, was the prettiest baby entered in the contest, and she was awarded the first prize consisting of five dollars in gold. The event will be a memorable one for Miss Marguerite, as it also marked her second birthday. Albert Kelley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kelley, was awarded the second prize while the twin daughters, Louise and Eloise of C. H. Cowles, were given third. The second prize consisted of two pounds of butter put up by Charles Linse and the third was a pound package of the Bryant-Sisson company's Golden Leaf coffee.

In all there were 25 entries in the contest and it was some time before the judges could set upon any one as being the prettiest.

The Babies Entered

The list of entries was as follows: Marguerite Berg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Berg. Albert Kelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kelley. Louise and Eloise, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cowles. Mr. Nielson's Talk

Mr. M. D. Nielson, manager of the La Crosse Pure Food company, delivered an interesting and instructive address on milk. He showed the different uses that it is put to and proved its food value. Perhaps the most interesting part of Mr. Nielson's address was that devoted to explaining the process and value of pasteurization.

According to Mr. Nielson in a modern pasteurizing institution all the implements and machinery are steamed after being used. The floor also comes in for its share of the cleaning and boiling water is used for this purpose. The theory that has been advanced by some that to pasteurize milk is to take away all the food products in it, was exploded by Mr. Nielson. He showed clearly how the germs are exterminated and the parts that are of any nutritious value retained.

PALIWODA'S CASE IS STRONG TODAY

The defense had all the best of the argument in circuit court this morning in the trial of John Paliwoda, charged with burglarizing the Schmidt grocery store on the north side and stealing a wagon load of supplies.

Most of the witnesses introduced were residents of the north side and of Indian hill, who had known Paliwoda for years and all testified to his previous good reputation for honesty and truthfulness.

Paliwoda who is a young man, denies the charge and while the stories told by himself and wife concerning the goods found in their home are somewhat conflicting, it is believed that the strength of the case of the defense made a decided impression on the jury this morning.

The case will likely go to the jury this afternoon, unless it is taken out of the jury's hands by Judge Fruit.

SEN. DOLIVER DOES NOT WANT LEMON

FORT DODGE, Ia., June 5.—Senator Doliver today practically eliminated himself as a vice presidential possibility when he issued a statement indicating he does not covet the honor.

"I would not want to belittle the honor of being vice president. It is a great dignity, but the change does not appeal to me. I want to rest and repose this summer, and I have no desire to plunge into the national campaign."

JOBBER MAY GO TO WAUKON JUNE 10

MEETING OF ASS'N DIRECTORS CALLED FOR TOMORROW

MAY BE FIRST EXCURSION

Invitation Extended La Crosse Manufacturers and Jobbers to Attend Woodman Celebration

The Commercial club of Waukon, Ia., of which H. L. Dayton is president, has issued an invitation to the La Crosse Manufacturers & Jobbers' Union to attend a Woodman celebration to be held in Waukon, June 10th, and if a meeting of the directors of the union called for tomorrow afternoon has the expected result the jobbers will likely run the first trade excursion of the year to Waukon next Wednesday.

The directors of the union, consisting of J. W. Bryant, H. J. Hirschheimer, R. Calvert, John C. Burns, L. C. Colman and Henry Gund, have been called to meet at the La Crosse club Saturday afternoon at 8 p. m. to decide on the details and as to whether or not the invitation will be accepted.

Montgomery was given a seven-year sentence. He again appealed.

Other Decisions.

The court sustained the decision of the lower court in the case of Ald. W. C. Okershauser, Milwaukee. Okershauser was convicted of soliciting a bribe of $500 from Adam Gross of the Gross Coal company for his vote and influence in the passage of an ordinance granting the company authority to construct a certain sidetrack. After the verdict was rendered it was discovered that one of the jurors, Ignatz Gorski, could not understand English and the defendant appealed from an order overruling his motion for an arrest of judgment.

The court affirmed the decision of the lower court in awarding John C. Pfeiffer vs. E. B. Marshall and F. P. Wilbur $1,772.50 on a note on an alleged land contract.

The case in which Lizzie Hamann was awarded $3,500 from the Milwaukee Bridge company for the death of her husband caused by a 13,300 pound machine falling upon him when not properly safeguarded was sustained.

The court reversed the decision of the Milwaukee lower court awarding Herman Weber $3,750 from Geo. C. Swallow as the result of an injury by being hit by Swallow's auto. Swallow appealed claiming contributory negligence.

Charles Gatzweiler, a traveling man, was thrown from the platform of a Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light company street car by a sudden jerk at a curve. He lost a foot and was paid $2,250 by the Continental Casualty company. He then sued the street car company for damages. The company interposed its answer in abatement and a demurrer to the same was sustained. The company appealed. The supreme court today sustained the demurrer order.

A lower court decision dissolving an injunction against the Eastern Railway company of Minnesota to prevent its building over the land of Warren E. McCord, was reversed, and the injunction stands.

The case in which Charles Pollock appealed a sentence of five years for killing Frank Tomlinson, because the presiding judge issued a charge to the jury unfavorable to the defendant, was decided against Pollock.

Alfred K. Getz secured a judgment of $300 in lower court from the Power and Mining Machine company for injuries received in an unprotected cog and the supreme court today refused to interfere with the decision.

The decision of the lower court in the case of J. M. Lehr, receiver for the Standard Lead & Zinc Smelting and Mining company, involving lands in Arizona, and demanding an accounting and division of the assets was reversed.

The will of Mary Carney was admitted to probate in Milwaukee. The order on grounds of mental incapacity and undue influence. Frank Carney appealed. The supreme court affirms the lower court's decision.

The court affirmed the decision giving Helen Kozik $200 of John Czaplowski's money for wounded affections not healed by the wedding ceremony.

The case of the state ex rel. Wm. B. Weiler vs. Edwin Hinkel, city clerk, Milwaukee, involving the payment of tax upon stock in trust companies organized under the laws of 1893, was affirmed. Hinkel won in the lower court.

An action of A. D. Ahnew vs. Frank Baldwin to recover $363.42 due on the sale of two lots in West Allis, was affirmed.

HOFFMAN MAY BE LIFE CRIPPLE

It is now feared by relatives that Paul Hoffman, the man who had the misfortune to be caught in the machinery of the merry-go-round in this city, will be crippled for life as the result of his injuries.

At the time of the accident the muscles of his leg were torn off. He was removed to the hospital. Serious doubts are expressed by physicians as to whether or not he will ever be able to use the member. He will be removed to his home in Horicon, Wis., some time this week.

Some men have so much conceit that they get stooped shouldered from carrying it.

SAD TALE OF C. J. L. MEYER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—With a request for admittance to the Milwaukee county poorhouse, C. J. L. Meyer, the first president of the Chicago & Northwestern road, and formerly one of the best known and most prosperous business men in Wisconsin, appeared at the office of the Associated Charities yesterday in the language of the streets, "all in, down and out." Mr. Meyer was mayor of Fond du Lac, founder of the Wisconsin Land and Lumber company at Hermansville, Mich., and a business associate of Senator Philletus Sawyer.

He fitted but ill with the rest of the applicants when he approached Agent Frelson and with head bent and infinite sadness marking his lowered voice, asked if he could be admitted to the Milwaukee poorhouse. He lives in Chicago, 93 Aberdeen street, where he has a room that he soon must give up for lack of funds.

"I thought that I would come here rather than go to the Chicago institution," said Mr. Meyer, "and as I am here a pauper I suppose you must wonder what brought me to these straits."

Then with well modulated voice, he told of his former success, with head back and the old light in his eye, his voice grew husky as he progressed in his tale to where failure first began to appear. He told of the palatial home once his in Fond du Lac; of the large sash and door factory, now the plant of the Winnebago Furniture Manufacturing company in that city. Later he went to Hermansville, Mich., and organized the Wisconsin Land and Lumber company, one of the largest of like institutions in the country.

Failure crossed his path and then he came to Milwaukee, where he lived for a time from hand to mouth until at last in desperation he moved to Chicago and tried to exist there. At every turn his weakening efforts were crossed by the unkind hand of fate and yesterday, despondent and broken down, C. J. L. Meyer, the once prosperous, took the last step and applied for public charity, who himself has dispensed charity in his earlier and better days.

He has a son in Chicago, also penniless, he says, and unable to support his father, and two daughters married to rich men, have become too comfortable in the lap of luxury to care for him, he declared, and his requests for aid remain unanswered.

The saddest blow of all was when Agent Frelson told the pitiful gentleman that he had lost his right of entrance to the Milwaukee poorhouse by moving to Chicago and the old man winced when given this reluctant information. Offers of money made by Agent Frelson were firmly but kindly refused, as Mr. Meyer left the room. Mr. Frelson will attempt to secure aid for the unfortunate from his daughters and it is believed that hundreds of men and women who tasted the fruits of his former hospitality and generosity, will rush to his relief when acquainted with his condition.

NEED STATE AID

WAUPACA, Wis., June 5.—At the invitation of the Business Men's Advancement association, Prof. W. O. Hotchkiss of the state university and Otto Dornier, vice president of the State Good Roads association, addressed a meeting on good roads and the pending constitutional amendment. A large number of business men of the city and farmers appeared to favor the expenditure of more money for permanent country roads and city streets and the general opinion was that the only solution of the question will be some form of state aid.

DR. GATTERDAM A TRUSTEE

Well Known La Crosse Dentist Is on Executive Board—J. M. Kehlror of Kenosha Is President

RACINE, Wis., June 5.—John M. Kehlror, past exalted ruler of Kenosha lodge, No. 750, B. F. O. E., and former district deputy of Wisconsin, was elected president of the Wisconsin State association of Elks at the seventh annual convention held here, defeating George L. Dwinell, sheriff of Waukesha county, by a vote of 52 to 2. The supporters of Mr. Dwinell who at the session of Wednesday afternoon were certain of victory, were not at the final session yesterday morning, having departed for home; delegates from the Waukesha lodge also had returned home.

W. J. Teckmeyer, Madison, was elected first vice president; W. H. Pahl, Baraboo, second vice president, and M. E. Walker, Racine, third vice president.

H. A. Gunderson, the lone representative of Portage lodge, No. 675, who captured the convention for 1909, was elected secretary, and F. A. Labudde, Oshkosh, was re-elected treasurer.

The new board of trustees consists of F. J. Callman, Madison; Edward Grassier, Milwaukee; O. L. Trenary, Kenosha; E. A. Gatterdam, La Crosse, and Fred T. Darvill, Portage.

The Rev. Thomas Edvard Barr of the Peoples church, Milwaukee, was elected chaplain.

The Wisconsin State Association of Elks will be held in Portage the first Tuesday in June, 1909.

The convention, before adjournment voted thanks to George Burrows of Madison, the retiring president, and to the local lodge and citizens of Racine.

Madison ladies received the cash prize of $50 which was hung up for the largest delegation of ladies attending the convention. For this prize, Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha were barred.

HORSEMAN SUES HIS STAKEHOLDER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—J. W. Plack, former owner of the famous Hazel Patch, is in trouble over a second horse of almost equal fame, Norma Colbert. He charges that he entered upon a bet with one Emil Gumpz in the sum of $50 on the relative merits of their respective horses. They turned the stakes over to Michel Neacy. Then, for some reason or other the race that was to decide the matter was never run. So the owner of Norma Colbert endeavored to get his money back.

"Nix!" said Neacy, "Norma's got to run."

So Plack has asked the court to force Neacy to give him back his money.

ROOSTER EPISODE ENDS

CHIPPewa FALLS, Wis., June 5.—Officer King has hauled down a dead rooster which former Chief of Police Thornton had placed on the top of a pole, about ten feet from the kitchen window of his neighbor, James White. Mr. Thornton's rooster wandered into Mr. White's yard and performed stunts in the garden. Mr. White shot it and threw it into Mr. Thornton's yard. The board of health interfered, after three days and sent the police for the dead rooster.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men," said the man who habitually quotes Shakespeare, "which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune." "Yes," replied the man who had married an heiress, "I remember the tide that led to my fortune well." "What tide was that?" "It was eventide, and we were sitting in the garden."

"Have you ever been cross-examined before?" inquired a harrister of a witness who was occupying his attention. "Have I?" exclaimed the man. "Didn't I just tell you I am married?"

S.S.S. MADE FROM A SAFE AND RELIABLE BLOOD PURIFIER

In the time of our forefathers the forests and fields were the only laboratories from which they could procure their medicines. They searched out and compounded the different roots, herbs and barks into remedies, many of which have been handed down to succeeding generations, and continuously used with satisfactory results. Among the very best of these old time preparations is S. S. S., a medicine made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, in such combination as to make it the greatest of all blood purifiers. This absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. makes it the one medicine that may be used without fear of harmful results in any way. Most blood medicines on the market contain mercury, potash, or some other strong mineral. These act with bad effect on the system, upsetting the stomach, interfering with the digestion, affecting the bowels, and when used for a prolonged period of time often cause salivation. No such effects ever result from the use of S. S. S., and it may be taken by children as safely as by older people. For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Malaria, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, and all other troubles caused by impure or poisoned blood, S. S. S. is a perfect remedy. It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, impurities, humors or unhealthy matter, and makes the blood pure and rich. It eliminates every particle of the taint of inherited blood trouble, purifies and strengthens the weak, deteriorated blood, and establishes the foundation for good health. S. S. S. is Nature's Blood Purifier, and its many years of successful service, with a steadily increasing demand for it, is the best evidence of its value in all blood troubles. A NOTEWORTHY SPEECH

(Milwaukee News.) It appears from a Washington dispatch to the Uncle Ike organ that the statisticians have discovered that Senator La Follette's filibuster speech weighed nineteen pounds, that he spoke eighteen and "one-half" hours, at a rate of sixty words a minute, that the aggregate of words was 96,000; and that it was the longest in time, heaviest in weight and contained the greatest number of words of any speech delivered in the senate.

It was La Follette's greatest speech covering all the subjects that he has discussed since he first ran for office, before he was of age, including his speech on "Representative Government," and his denunciation of "the machine" and "boss rule."

And after he had exhausted his own repertory, the senator quoted copiously from public documents.

MAYOR PROHIBITS SALOON STALLS

WAUKESHA, Wis., June 5.—By a unanimous vote the city council ordered doors and curtains removed from all side rooms in saloons and Mayor Glenn says he will see that the order is enforced. The action was taken after the council decided that no further action be taken on ordinances abolishing stalls in saloons and requiring screen and curtains removed from saloon windows. The report stated that the statutes and ordinances now in force were sufficient. No attempt will be made to remove the window screens and curtains, the side rooms having been a bone of contention. Mayor Glenn says the sale of liquor to several minors has been reported to him and he hopes to soon have the offending saloon keepers in court.

BUILD PLATFORM WITH DIFFICULTY

MAKING REPUBLICAN PLANKS IS NOT EASY TASK

TO PREVENT THE MISCHIEF

Plan is to Keep Delegates Busy on Vice President While Leaders Fix Resolutions

Washington Bureau of
The La Crosse Tribune
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.
(By J. C. Welliver.)

Drafting a platform for the republican national convention to endorse is not proving, according to report a simple or comfortable task. It has been impossible to learn just how definitely the Taft managers propose to arrange their platform views in advance of the convention. President Roosevelt is remaining in Washington later than usual this year, and will stay till after the national convention; the reason, it is said, is that he is more accessible here to politicians than at Oyster Bay, and has facilities for managing and handling people who come to see him, either voluntarily or when sent for. The platform drafting business is going to claim most attention this week.

A number of leading members of the senate, with several in the house, who have been committed to the Taft campaign for a long time, also Secretaries Root, Taft, Garfield and Cortelyou, and other intimate advisers of the president, are to give considerable time now to the drafting in outline at least of a platform. Wade Ellis and A. I. Vorys of Ohio are assigned considerable parts in the task; but in fact the big political questions will be settled by the president, Taft, Root, Chas. P. Taft and two or three senators.

Three Big Tasks
Some of the politicians have figured that it would be well to let the convention name its own candidate for vice president. When the convention meets it will have three big things to do; to nominate a president, a vice president, and to make a platform. The presidential nomination will be attended to in advance. There is a good deal of disposition to attend to the vice presidency as well. If then the administration advisers should cook up the platform in advance, the convention would have nothing whatever to do except ratify. Perhaps this is the fear of some of the cautious politicians; perhaps the convention would dislike this ready-to-wear program, and for want of anything else to do start a fight. What would it do in such a case?

Keep the Boys Busy
The big, important thing to be given attention is the platform. The vice presidency settles itself rather easily; geographical and personal and political considerations make it rather easy. The platform is different. It will not do to have any serious differences inside the party developed by the convention, to be ironed out in a public fashion. All must be harmony, on the outside at least. Therefore it is proposed to allow the convention to amuse itself with the nomination of a vice president. That will give it business enough to keep it busy and out of mischief while the chiefs get the platform fixed and suppress all possible danger of trouble. "A sop to Cerberus" is what a classically inclined New Englander called the vice presidency; by which he later explained that he meant that the convention would be allowed to gnaw on the vice presidential bone while the managers carved up the platform steaks.

BURLINGTON R.R. FOUND GUILTY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 5.—The federal government won a notable victory in the United States district court today when the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company was found guilty on two charges of violating the twenty-eight hour law which provides that livestock shall not be confined in cars over twenty-eight hours without being taken out for five consecutive hours for the purpose of giving them rest and food and water. The company was fined $100 and costs on each of three counts.

STEALS WIVES OF OPPONENT

MEQUINEZ, June 5.—Mulai Hafid, the usurping sultan of Morocco, has confiscated the wives of Gen. RETURN OF MR. COOPER.

RACINE, Wis., June 5.—Congressman Henry Allen Cooper and wife returned Tuesday night from Washington and again occupy their home on Main street. Mr. Cooper became ill in Chicago Tuesday, having suffered from ptomaine poisoning. He was the day occupied a carriage with Gov. Davidson in the Elks' parade yesterday, but was unable to leave his room.

TOLEDO BROKERS FAIL

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 5.—The commission and brokerage firm of H. R. Ashbrook & Co., went into the hands of a receiver today without stating the assets and liabilities. Moses G. Block was named as receiver. It is known that the firm is burdened with more than $200,000 worth of securities that have depreciated for weeks.

MOST BEAUTIFUL MANSION IN NEW YORK AND ITS OWNER, SEN. CLARK

NEW YORK, June 5.—The French palace, which Senator W. A. Clark of Montana has erected at the corner of Seventy-seventh and Fifth avenue, is conceded to be the most expensive private mansion in America. The house has cost upwards of $5,000,000.

The house has been called "An old man's fad," and so it is. Every piece of marble, every piece of granite, every piece of wood, every piece of bronze, the work of every laborer, every art object, and every purchase and contract has had the personal attention of the owner. The house represents the man, carries out his ideas, reveals his tastes. When in New York, Senator Clark spends days within its walls, watching its progress, giving his opinions, passing upon or rejecting pieces of work, or bits of work.

NOON CLOSING TO BE GENERAL

Through the efforts of the board of trade, all the freight depots in the city, the banks and a majority of the manufacturers have signified their intention of joining in on the Saturday closing. Starting with next Saturday and continuing through the months of June, July and August, all the parties have promised to close at 12 o'clock for the remainder of the day.

Some time ago the matter was brought before the various dealers and manufacturers by Secretary Bentley and they consented to close at 1 o'clock on Saturdays, but this did not meet the satisfaction of employees. They were late to their dinner and many had the entire afternoon taken up with work, that the 12 o'clock closing would have eliminated. After a meeting it was finally decided to close at 12 o'clock and all interested promised to abide by that ruling.

Hereafter during the months of June, July and August the wholesale district and the banks will be closed at noon on Saturday. "Few of the manufacturers will have to remain open," said Mr. Bentley this morning, "but as the depots will be closed after 12 o'clock it is believed that all the manufacturers will soon join in and close at noon."

CONGRESSMAN IS INDICTED

NORWALK, O., June 5.—Congressman J. F. Lanig of the fourteenth district and candidate to succeed himself, has been indicted as the result of the recent failure of the Ohio Trust company. Three others are also named in the indictment.

WON'T BOOST RATES

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—The railroads have failed to file the expected notice of increase in rates for July 1st with the interstate commerce commission and as a result it is taken for granted that no increase is to be made. It is thought the railroads have decided a muss on rates would be unwise on the eve of a presidential election.

STARVING CHILDREN FAINT AT DESKS

NEW YORK, June 5.—Emergency measures for the relief of hundreds of pupils in schools who have been found to be suffering from lack of food have been adopted.

Late today the committee decided to arrange for the speedy opening of two kitchens on the lower east side at which the hungry children may be fed.

That the reports already made public have hardly painted conditions black enough was the statement made today by Isidore M. Levy, chairman of the third school district committee.

"An investigation," said Mr. Levy, "has shown that many of the destitute families have sent their little ones to school without having given them food for forty-eight hours. To my own personal knowledge several children have fainted while they were reciting in their classrooms."

DEMOCRATIC LOVE FEAST IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 5.—A general love feast was held at the Sherman house yesterday when the democratic state central committee began its meeting. J. Hamilton Lewis, John P. McGorty and Douglas Patterson, candidates for governor, were on hand early to further their candidacies. The booms of John Mitchell and Samuel Altschuler also got a distinct boost, and many members are insisting Mitchell will be the strongest possible candidate. This afternoon the committee entered into a discussion of the primary law which became effective June 1st.

SALOONISTS BEATEN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 5.—The state supreme court this morning denied the saloon people a rehearing in the O'Brien case, brought to test the validity of the local option law. There are a few minor questions concerning the law which were not tested in the O'Brien case, but which will no doubt find their way into the courts before long.

JOHNSON MEN CLAIM BRYAN IS DEFEATED

CHICAGO, June 5.—Simultaneously with the arrival at Chicago of Gov. Johnson, his managers issued a statement declaring that their fight to prevent the nomination of Bryan on the first ballot at the democratic national convention has been won.

The refusal of the Louisiana and Maryland state conventions to instruct for Bryan, they say, has accomplished this result. The Johnson men say the Bryan wave has begun to recede, and that Johnson is gaining steadily in the south. Scribbles—My new book will soon be published. I hope you will lose no time in reading it. Miss Cutting—Indeed I won't. I lost several hours reading your other one."

GOOD BREAD

Our Bread Maker Demonstration is a great success. Mrs. Orr has hardly been able to make up enough of the little samples loaves to satisfy her numerous callers.

These little loaves are exact duplicates of the "Penny Loaves" which Dickens tells of in Pickwick papers. The little baking pans, in which they are baked, were brought from England expressly for use at the Demonstrations.

No. 2—Small Family Size, $1.35.

Easily Cleaned

The dough does not stick to the sides of the pail. A trial or two will enable you to get the exact quantity of flour to use with the regular quantity of wettings. It will then lift right out clean and clean.

Turns Easily

You think the "Universal" would be hard to turn well, it isn't at all. Any housewife can turn the large $2.50 size, even when it has enough dough in it for 10 or 12 loaves. Come in and turn it and see for yourself.

Better Bread

The kneading is so much more thorough and the ingredients so much better distributed, that everybody admits that "Universal" kneaded bread has a better taste than bread kneaded by hand.

HANDSOME "RED WING II" HERE

15 FT. PLEASURE CRAFT WITH
36 H. P. ARRIVES
ON 800 MILE TRIP TO ILL.

Newest Boat Built by Up River
Company Stops Here Enroute to
Havana to Enter Excursions

The "Red Wing II," a handsome
45 foot canopy cruiser built by the Red Wing Boat Manufacturing company, stopped at La Crosse yesterday enroute to Havana, Ill., where
she will be used in the excursion
business at "Quiver Beach," a summer resort on the Illinois river, operated by I. R. Brown.

In the boat was Mr. and Mrs. I.
R. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Atch-
ison and Frank B. Brown of Hava-
na. They were accompanied here
from Red Wing, Minn., by J. R.
Trautner, manager of the Red Wing
company.

The "Red Wing II" is of excellent design and has beautiful curves.
She is equipped with a 36 horse
power 6 cylinder engine of the new 4-cycle type made by the Red Wing
company, with aluminum base. During the 100 mile trip from Red Wing no trouble was experienced
with the engine, which is one of
the finest ever seen here.

The boat left Winona at 8:07 yesterday morning and reached La Crosse at 3:20 p. m., against a
heavy head wind. The "Red Wing II" is not designed for speed, but
will carry a large party of people.
The boat rides easy and in the heavy swells of Lake Pepin did not ship a particle of water, although Mr.
Brown says smaller boats on the lake were so discomfited by the waves that they would disappear
from sight at times.

The "Red Wing II" is equipped
with a stationary canopy top with attachable side curtains and is beautifully finished in light oak, with brass nickel rails fore and aft and on top of the canopy. The engine is equipped with a double Crandall oil-
ing system, an Apple dynamo, storage
battery and 12 switch ignition system, and has the latest improved
Connecticut coils. She is also equipped with an air compressor which
fills an air tank to operate a shrill
whistle. She has a reverse gear and
altogether is one of the most elaborate and complete boats ever seen
in local waters.

DR. W. L. HEATH, SUCCESSOR OF
S. MORIKUBO, THE CHIRO-PRACTOR.

"Wisdom is justified by its children." When I made my advent in this city, even well-meaning and intelligent people shook their heads
and thought I was "an innocent
looking quack." Time, however,
amply demonstrated the greatness of Chiropractic science, and my work,
which sincerely courts investigation,
has vindicated my integrity of purpose, and my sincerity has won innumerable friends for Chiropractic.
Even prejudice which fought hard
against me and Chiropractic, is now
at rest under the sod.

This victory has not been gained accidentally. You all know how hard all the malefactors fought
against the Chiropractor; but they were routed for the simple reason
that right should prevail. It is common sense and judgment of the people of La Crosse and of this northwest which have pronounced the verdict that Chiropractic is a boon
to suffering humanity, and that it is a privilege of these people in this fair city.

It is my privilege and delight to announce that the work I have begun will be continued. My successor, Dr. Heath, the Chiropractor, is a graduate of the Palmer School of Chiropractic. He is father of Mrs.
B. J. Palmer, whose husband is the
star in the whole Chiropractic world.
Dr. Heath is a man of integrity, character, and his purpose in life is to relieve suffering humanity. As a Chiropractor he is conscientious and skillful, and it is a pleasure for me to recommend him to the people of La Crosse and the northwest.

Dr. Heath will occupy the same rooms for his office in the McMillan building, Main street, which I have occupied. He will be ready by next Tuesday to receive patients.

SHIGETARO MORIKUBO.

An Extravagant Woman.

Mrs. Belle De Rivera, president of the Equal Suffrage league of New York, said, at a recent dinner:

"We'd have had the suffrage, we women, long ago, were it not that where women are concerned, men are inclined to be a little unfair, a little churlish.

"Their treatment of women is on a par with old Hiram Doollittle's treatment of his wife. He made her keep a cash account, and he would go over it every night, growling and grumbling, like this:

"'Look, here, Hannah—mustard plasters 50 cents; three teeth extracted, $2. There's $2.50 in one day spent for your own private pleasure. Do you think I'm made of money?'—Washington Star.

WHAT'S TO BE DONE WITH COLD ALASKA

GOVERNMENT OF TERRITORY IS NOW WEARISOME PROBLEM

USUAL WAY TOO EXPENSIVE

Territorial government is impractical and Present System is Proving Incompetent

Washington Bureau of
The La Crosse Tribune.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.
(By J. C. Welliver.)

Something must be done with Alaska—but what?

It has 500,000 square miles and more of area, and between 40,000 and 50,000 white inhabitants. If it were made a territory the expense of maintaining its government would be so great that the people could never stand it, and development of the territory would surely be impeded. On the other hand, if congress continues to govern it, the chances are that it will be worse and worse governed simply because congress has less and less time for such details, and so its development will be impeded, but for a different reason.

13 Miles to Each White Person.

There are about 13 square miles of area to each white person living in Alaska. There are tremendous natural resources, and the day is long past when anybody doubts that there is a future of considerable significance for the territory. But it is also beginning to be realized that some sort of a compromise from the government will have to be devised for the region.

Many Plans Discussed.

The Panama canal zone is governed by the president, who rules there by executive order, in a process which the czar of all the Russians might well employ. The notion of giving the president like authority over Alaska has been suggested, but it is objected to for many reasons. The

A meeting will be held Sunday morning of the general committee of the Saengerfest association at the fair grounds, when plans will be made for the large picnic to be held there during the Saengerfest. Plans will be made for places of the tents of the various societies and other arrangements will be talked over. Following the meeting at the fair grounds a meeting will be held at the offices of the secretary when the final details will be taken up, and other matters for the Saengerfest attended to.

Secretary Ufermoehl received a letter from the society at Moline, Ill., this morning asking for quarters for a delegation of twenty-five at the fest.

The secretary of the Saengerfest has written to Miss Anna Hilsch, asking for the selections she will render at the festival. It is understood that the intention of Miss Hilsch is to enjoy her honeymoon in America and while here she will render several selections at the Saengerfest.

ENTER PLEA OF "NOT GUILTY"

Sam White, colored, Frank Voss and Frank Schimschak were brought before Judge Fruit this morning and the charge against the former two changed to receiving stolen goods. The charge against Schimschak was made stealing beer from the H. Baldwin saloon, 218 North Front street. All of the prisoners pleaded not guilty and Attorney Jesse Higbee was appointed to defend them as they are without funds.

The trio are the remaining members of the quartette charged with stealing beer from the Palm Leaf saloon, after it had been closed. The fourth member of the gang has been discharged.

ESCH'S ORATION AT ARLINGTON

EULOGIZES BLUE AND GRAY

Honor Conferred On La Crosse Congressman in Selection to Deliver Speech Upon Occasion

The Memorial Day address of Congressman John J. Esch of this city, at Arlington, the beautiful old Lee manor, was one of the finest bits of oratory recorded May 30th. The La Crosse representative was honored with the selection as the orator of the day at this stately occasion, which is attended by high officials of Washington.

Mr. Esch's oration was published by the Washington Star in part as follows:

More than two score years have passed since the civil war upheaved our nation to the point of open rupture. A war which called forth for its suppression the energies and sacrifices of more than a million loyal sons. Among these were those whose graves now hallow this sacred ground, this necropolis overlooking the capital, this mecca of a nation's patriotism, Arlington. Among these are those whose memory we this day honor and with whom you, veterans of the republic, were comrades in arms.

"Forty years have in their passage brought a new generation upon the scene whose knowledge of the rebellion comes from tradition or the printed page. You, who have had the rigors of war engraven upon your memories by shot and shell, by bayonet and saber, need no word from me to declare the duties of this day and those of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, as comrades with those who have gone before, as soldiers in the Spanish war, you throng the cemeteries of the land, followed by a sympathetic people. But to the present generation it seems fitting and proper that a scene in this bloody yet glorious conflict be lifted up as an inspiration, as a standard of the high courage of the armies north and south.

The Day's Memories. "In these changeable and materialistic days we are prone to forget the valorous deeds of our fathers and the principles for which they gladly suffered sickness, wounds and death. If absence of public dangers has begotten apathy and want of patriotism let this day's teachings reinvigorate our minds and hearts with the knowledge of the courageous deeds done by veterans living and dead. Let the story of a single battle, imperfectly narrated though it be, kindle in us a feeling of admiration for the American soldier and of gratitude that in his bravery and devotion the republic has its chief bulwark."

Battle Heroes Are Glorified. Giving word pictures of the battles of Lookout Mountain, Shiloh, Champion Hills and Vicksburg. Representative Esch referred to the brave men who had won them, and said:

"They lived for a name, for their country they died; They were all that to life, entwined them. Not soon shall the tears of their country be dried, So long as their friends stay behind."

"On this Memorial Day, with all these tokens of man's mortality about us, the lowly grave, the cross, the towering shaft, the spring flowers which tell of nature's resurrection, a feeling of sadness comes over us which our souls cannot resist, when we remember that these great captains of our nation's salvation, except Howard, with thousands whom they were won't to lead, are already numbered in the bygone of the dead.

"The great are falling from us one by one. As fall the patriarchs of the forest trees. The wind shall seek them vainly. And the sun gaze on their vacant space for centuries."

Remembrances for Men in Ranks. "In this justly honoring the names and memories of the great dead let us not forget the claims of those myriads of the rank and file 'who fell in distant lands, on rugged mountain sides, in shady valleys, along the river's winding bank and on the blood-stained plain,' and, above all, let us not forget the unknown heroes here and their lowly graves, 'claiming no tribute but tears.'"

"In these days of hero worship we are wont to honor epaulettes and forget the privates in the ranks, through whose bravery those very epaulettes were often-times won. An army makes its general quite as often as a private's tattered uniform may throb the heart of greatness or beat the brain of genius, awaiting that tide whose flood leads on to fortune and to power."

"Our generals have their reward in large measure in the admiration and esteem of their fellow-countrymen while living, and in statues, shafts and mausoleums erected in their honor when dead; while the common soldier and subaltern are too soon lost sight of and their deeds forgotten in the onward rush of these later years."

"To these not only the nation, but we ourselves, owe not merely a debt of gratitude, but a debt far more substantial—a debt that shall cheer their declining years, keep want and hunger from their doors and pave the downward pathway to their graves with joy and peace. Let us not neglect them and theirs while living, and when dead scatter the

Prominent Local Speakers Will Deliver Addresses at Frohsinn Hall Tonight

The Norwegians will celebrate Norway's new independence day for the first time in La Crosse under auspices of Normanna Saengerkor.

June 7, 1905, the Norwegian storthing (congress) declared King Oscar had broken his pact and the constitution of Norway by refusing to sanction a law past by all parts of the storthing giving Norway a secretary of foreign affairs separate from Sweden. declared themselves a government without a king and separated from Sweden. In memory of this extraordinary event, unequaled in the history of the world, this revolution without bloodshed, which left the two kingdoms Norway and Sweden on still better terms, Normanna Saengerkor have completed arrangements to celebrate the day at Frohsinn hall this evening, June 5. They have made arrangements for an excellent program with speeches in English and Norwegian, by Messrs. James Thompson and Skaar, songs by the choir, some special Norwegian selections rendered by Kreutz's orchestra. There will be refreshments served, and a dance after the program. Street cars will run after the dance. Invitation has been extended to all Norwegian societies.

Patriotism and Loyalty.

"The children of today will become the leaders of tomorrow. Wise leaders are always mindful of the past and try to guide the people by the light which the past furnishes in the way of experience and inspiration. This memorial celebration should teach us what loyalty and patriotism mean, and its significance will be lost unless we understand that the essence of patriotism and loyalty is sacrifice. It was the great sacrifice of health and life that should make us feel grateful for being permitted to live in a country where thousands freely sacrificed all that it might be united and free."

"Our generation will also have its trials and its sorrows. Let us see to it that it also shall nobly make its sacrifices. A selfish man does not make sacrifices for others, neither does a selfish nation. Our grand republic is not selfish. You have seen her send her soldiers, sacrifice 2,000 lives, and spend over two hundred millions of dollars to drive Spanish tyranny from Cuba. You can search your histories, but you cannot find another example of such a sacrifice. "While we have much to make us feel proud we must remember that the humble nation, like the humble man, is in no danger of a fall. Not that we should not feel an honest and just pride in our country's deeds, but that we should not be filled with empty boasting or a haughty spirit."

"Memorial day is not a day for exultation, but of consecration to the basic principles of the republic. It is not a day to revive prejudice and bitterness, but to more firmly cement our Union and promote non-sectional patriotism. Each year's observance strengthens our feeling of brotherhood and increases our pride in our common country."

"The hand once raised in patriotic strife now scatters flowers on a brother's grave. The Blue and the Gray of the civil war became the blue of the Spanish war as the gray of morning melts into the blue of noon. The flags captured midst the storm of battle have been returned to their gallant defenders."

"A navy the guns of whose ships once thundered for admission to southern ports is today manned by gallant sailors from every state in the Union; sailors proud to serve under a flag about to be borne as an emblem of peace in the cruise around the world."

"The union of lakes, the union of lands. The union of states, none can sever; The union of hearts, the union of hands. And the flag of the Union forever."

"The uniform of our sailors and soldiers stands for law and order in time of peace and for defense in time of war. In time of war we respect the uniform and those who wear it. In times of peace there are cities wherein it is not respected and where the wearers of it are discriminated against and humiliated. These cities would be among the very first to claim protection in time of need."

"I plead for fair treatment from all our people toward the boys who have enlisted to defend their country on land and sea, whose reward rests not in their wage, but in the honor and respect of their countrymen, and wherever they may be, at home or abroad, let them also remember that they represent in person and uniform the dignity and power of the United States."

In conclusion Representative Esch declared:

"It is here the fate of mafia, anarchy and all the foreign ill our body politic falls heir to must be determined. 'Tis here the remedy for political corruption must be ascertained and dose prescribed. 'Tis here the contending sects and creeds must find the common ground creeds must wage an harmony together. 'Tis here the greed of capital and the demands of labor must evince a fair adjustment. Great need is there for captains to lead the people in these times of social and political unrest."

DANIEL F. COHALAN, GRAND SACHEM OF TAMMANY

NEW YORK, June 5.—Daniel F. Cohalan, who has just been elected grand sachem of the Tammany society, is one of the most unique political figures in New York city. He might truthfully be called a political trust, as he monopolizes the important confidential and influential position at the right hand of the Tammany boss. Among other customs peculiar to Tammany hall, the grand sachem has the right to wear the big official hat on the Fourth of July.

This is the crowning event of Mr. Cohalan's extraordinary rise in the favor of "Boss" Murphy which began about four years ago and has continued until he is practically Murphy's whole board of advisors. He and Mr. Murphy are inseparable. Even the fruitful J. Sargeant Cram has almost been crowded out. Hardly a day passes that Murphy and Cohalan do not lunch together, either down town or at Delmonico's. Nearly every night they meet.

If Murphy has a tangled political problem, he sends for Cohalan. If he has a tangled legal problem, he sends for Cohalan. If he wants an intimate personal chat on topics outside of politics, he calls up "Dan" on the phone, and the two meet at Delmonico's or at Murphy's home club.

In the recent state convention Murphy had Cohalan constantly by his side. In the fight with McCarrren Murphy put Cohalan forward, and he conducted a fight for which Cockran, Grady and a half dozen others would have been called upon. It was Cohalan who was in charge of the all night fight with the McCarrren forces before the credentials committee.

This man, who never held an office, and asserts that he has no ambition to hold one, has become the most powerful man in Tammany hall outside of Murphy. He will go to Denver in July with Murphy and will repeat there the prominent part he took recently in the state convention here, so far as New York's part in the national convention is concerned.

Cohalan is in his fortieth year. He is big, powerfully built, smooth, shaven and has a typically Irish face. He was a baseball player in his younger days, and now frequently puts on the gloves with Prof. Mike Donovan at the New York Athletic club. His athletic training shows in his powerful, strongly knit frame. He has the gray eye of a fighter, and he has the fighter's face, though he is usually good humored and smiling.

JOHNSON GOES IN DECORAH

Fred Johnson, well known in baseball playing, and for a number of years catcher for the Athletics, left today for Decorah, Ia., where he has accepted a position catching the Decorah team. Johnson is one of the best catchers in this state and had offers from Galesville, Albin and St. Charles. The Decorah is a semi-pro team and has a wide reputation in baseball.

KETCHELL GIVEN BOUT WITH PAPKE

MICHIGAN LAD TOO MUCH FOR HIS OPPONENT

6000 WITNESS THE CONTEST

Ketchell Has Better of Argument All Through Ten Rounds and Forced the Fighting

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5.—(Special.)—In a furious ten round battle before the Milwaukee Boxing club at the Hippodrome last evening, Stanley Ketchell of Grand Rapids, Mich., won the decision over Billy Papke of Kewanee, Ill., in a contest marked by terrific onslaught by the Michigan fighter.

Both fighters entered the ring at shortly after 10:30 and were cheered by a crowd of 6,000 composed of fighters, managers and followers of the fighting game. On entering the ring the betting increased with the odds favoring Ketchell 10 to 8. Both fighters appeared in good condition. Referee McGuigan entered the ring and after the regular routine announcements and shaking hands the first round opened with Papke delivering a hard punch to Ketchell's jaw. All through the fight it looked like Ketchell had the better of the argument. He landed almost at will and was very aggressive. In the tenth round after following Papke around the ring, Ketchell landed a left and right to jaw and sent Papke to the ropes. Referee McGuigan gave Ketchell the decision.

Wall Street's Teddy Bear.
NEW YORK, June 5.—Trading through the first hour was active with irregular movements consisting of advances at the opening followed by a decline of one point. The market then turned sharply on stories that Roosevelt had authorized a denial of any intention to permit the use of his name at the republican convention, and the losses sustained were completely recovered.

After rapid fluctuations the hour ended with the majority of the stocks showing fractional net gains over yesterday's close. Government bonds were unchanged; others irregular.

Ben Baukman, white, and so defendant with the negro was not molested. The crime for which the negro and white man were jointly tried, occurred a year ago, and although much excitement was occasioned at the time it was thought it had subsided. MINNESOTA AND
THE NORTHWESTRIP UP WALKS
AT CROOKSTONCITIZENS HOLD MASS MEETING WITH EX-OFFICIAL LEADER

FIND THE COUNCIL IS SLOW

People in Jerome's Addition Tear Out Boards in Hope of Getting Cement Laid

CROOKSTON, Minn., June 5.—Citizens of Jerome's addition to Crookston, separated from the business district by Red Lake river, held a mass meeting yesterday under the leadership of W. E. Slocum, a former alderman, and at 4 o'clock commenced to tear up over 1,000 feet of the board walk of Bridge street. The walk was totally destroyed. Residents of Jerome's addition want cement walks on Bridge street, for which contracts already have been let.

The city council has debated for a year over the position of the sidewalk grade, especially on the approach to the bridge across Red Lake river from the addition side. The correct height of grade was the issue before the council and no decision was made. Though it had been much discussed, the move of the citizens was an absolute surprise. Residents of the addition on streets affected by the walks met at 3 o'clock, and laborers were working on the walk at 4. The residents were fearful of an injunction, but the opposition was dazed and took no action.

The walks taken up were main leaders to the residence part of the addition, and the construction of new walks must start immediately, before another rain.

LOSES HOG; SUIT IS COSTLY

MILLER, S. D. June 5.—An outgrowth of the hog case near Rockham was had here in the arrest by Charles Sanger of a prominent citizen of that neighborhood on a perjury charge. The hearing was in justice court and the defendant discharged with costs taxed up to the plaintiff. The hog which Mr. Sanger lost and which was arbitrated in favor of Jacob Lyon is still in the possession of that gentleman. Mr. Sanger having lost the hog, and both suits having gone against him, entailing a cost besides the loss of the hog, of about $500, now will drop the matter.

BRAVE STEAM TO ESCAPE

SPOONER Minn., June 5.—Two employees at the Rainy River Lumber company's saw mill at Rainy River, Ont., David Bell and Quimby met with a serious accident while they were repairing an elbow of a steam pipe leading from the boiler to the mill. The elbow broke and the men's only escape was by passing through the steam pouring out at a great pressure. Both men were terribly scalded and are in a critical condition.

RIPON WOMAN IS

RIPON, Wis., June 5.—Mrs. Mary S. Rolfe, aged 84, while walking along the Milwaukee road's tracks was struck by a north bound train and picked up in a dying condition. She suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and was injured internally. The train is said to have whistled a number of times, but she mistook the whistle for that of another train on another track.

His body was found in the office of the livery barn in the morning. His rifle was found outside in the lot and an empty shell was found on the office floor.

AT THE PURE FOOD SHOW

As a popular demonstration of the purity of the foods we are handling, and as an earnest endeavor of our purpose to so conduct the grocery as to promote and conserve the health of our patrons, we offer the public this educational exhibition, THE PURE FOOD SHOW. You are cordially invited to attend.

Respectfully,

La Crosse Retail Grocers' Association

J. B. MURRAY, PRES.

HARRY TAGGART, SEC'Y.

A TURN ABOUT THE PURE FOOD SHOW

The Retail Grocers' association feels a pardonable pride in its instrumentality in the presentation to the public of the accompanying display of pure foods. Not only for purity, but for nutrition, palatability and other essential qualities they are pre-eminent, and they are all made or jobbed by La Crosse firms. They are conspicuous among the displays at the Pure Food show, their booths being the centers of attraction for the visiting crowds.

Golden Leaf Mystery.

Bryant & Sisson, whose popular brand "Golden Leaf Coffee" is the product they aim to exploit at this show, have taken delight in mystifying the visitors with the cup that filleth not. It was designed by Mr. Louis LaVaque, grocer, 315 Rose street, the device being a coffee pot constantly pouring a stream of rich coffee into a cup that never fills. The mystery is still unsolved, but the coffee is delicious.

Funke's Sweetness.

There never was a palace of sweets more attractive than the Bower of Sweets which "Funke's" has established in a cozy corner to the right of the entrance. "Fancy candies" to gladden the eye, tasty tidbits to tickle the palate, a charming bower of branches in which smiling women crowd and look their sweetest for a "sample" sweetmeat. But what's the use? It's just Funke's, that's all.

A Sermon in Soups.

In the booth of the National Conserve company, a good place to begin with—soup is shown and sampled. The pea and bean conserve's value as a food product is shown by the dictum of scientists that one pound of either contains more tissue building nourishment than does two pounds of beef, and eight times as much energy producing material as one pound of beef. Easy to use—call at the booth and see.

You Always Come Back.

That electric booth of the Electrical Supply & Construction company throws some light on the subject of sanitary wiring, and electric bread toasting, but just across the way a pretty woman is inviting you to try one of those delicious ice cream cones of the La Crosse Ice Cream & Butter company, which, of course, you accept and devour. After that, most likely, you hurriedly circle the building, readjusting your hat and otherwise disguising yourself, and saunter back with a never-was-here-before look in the hope of getting another cone. Their butter is just as good as their ice cream.

Candy to Order.

The Kratchwil Candy company says "The Best is None Too Good for You" and that is probably why they they make some of the best candy you ever tasted right before your eyes in the booth, and give it to you. Tell the man what you want, and he'll make it for you. Then tell your friends you have your candy made to order. This exhibit is perfectly unconventional and you can lick your fingers as you leave the booth if you want to.

Pasteurization.

La Crosse is just getting acquainted with a new and welcome visitor, "Pasteurized Milk," and its products—ice cream, butter, milk and cream, pure beyond error, rendered so by approved scientific process, and just as delicious as any fresh milk products can be made. Take an ice cream cone—take two maybe—and don't forget the new delightful summer beverage "Choco-Lacto." It's fine. Get them at the booth of the La Crosse Pure Food company.

Slide for Kelley's Coffee.

Do you know Kelley? E. J. Kelley, of course you do. Lived here 14 years, and everybody knows him. He is exploiting the J. H. Bell & Co. coffees, and Mr. Kelley is making a hit with his exhibition, especially as his long residence here causes him to be regarded as a home industry. Come on in, the coffee's fine.

Try Maxeen.

But by this time you must have a drink—something cool refreshing, pleasant. Just try MAXEEN, the new drink which the North Side Bottling works is "setting up." It is simply delicious, a cooler among temperance beverages. It is carbonated with chemically pure carbonates, and there is not a drink in the market so scrupulously guarded against every hint of impurity. It makes a hit!

The Program.

The program for next week has been announced. Monday is Macaroni day, and there is some mystery about Tuesday. The baby show Thursday will be a nice feature. If you can't come yourself, telegraph your baby. Friday will be given over to soup, and you want to be in it. Saturday will be Manufacturers' and Jobbers' day, and that is sure to keep the visitors interested and busy. There'll be plenty of music both afternoons and evenings.

Much Interest Organized.

The management is highly pleased with the interest the ladies of La Crosse are showing in these pure foods, a subject which vitally interests every household. The attendance has been good and steady, and the exhibition has proved instructive and satisfactory to patrons. Next week will see the culmination of the interest which has been aroused by the enterprise.
